12 Persons Are Victims Of Oil Blaze Five Others Hurt At Amsterdam

Amsterdam, Feb. 1 (AP)—Eleven children and the father of five of them perished in a fire that destroyed a 10-family tenement early today.

Eight bodies, seven those of children, were recovered.

Five other persons were injured, one critically.

Police said the fire, which occurred about 12:30 a. m., was caused by an overflowing oil stove.

An undetermined number of persons fled in their nightclothes into a snowstorm and sub-freezing temperatures. Police and firemen helped several out.

MRS. ANNA GAGLIARDY said a dog's bark awakened her. Smelling smoke, she dragged her 84-year-old mother, Mrs. Celia Cosiba, feet first, from their ground-floor apartment.

Patrolman Marvin Swart, who was in a patrol car 10 blocks from the scene, kicked in three doorways.

"The fire was a ball of flame

Big Debate Ahead On Army's Size

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—A Pentagon dispute over administration plans to cut army strength was out in the open today and apparently destined for considerable debate when Congress considers military appropriations and draft extension.

Pressed by members of the House Armed Services Committee for his views on the projected 140,000-man cut, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway, army chief of staff, said yesterday he felt it would "jeopardize" national security "to a degree."

Previously, Ridgeway's objections had been reported, but unconfirmed.

SITTING NEXT TO RIDGEWAY, Secretary of the Army Stevens indicated he may at one time have leaned toward Ridgeway's view.

"I have adjusted my thinking completely to the balanced pro-

156th Will Get Six Howitzers in February

The 156th Field Artillery got its new look last midnight when it became the first armored National Guard unit in the United States.

The historic military event was announced to members of the press and radio by Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer, at a press conference and reception last night at the local armory.

Mystery Prints Found by Police

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Ten mysterious fingerprints found in the bedroom of Serge Rubinstein were checked today in search for the killer of the millionaire financier and draft dodger.

Discovery of these prints and eight others was disclosed yesterday by Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman. Six fingerprints proved to be those of the murder victim and two others were useless smudges, Herman said.

Mindful of the 46-year-old Rubinstein's playboy reputation, police are checking the 10 prints against those on file for more than 5,000 night club entertainers.

ALTHOUGH THE PRINTS could lead to the person who strangled Rubinstein in his lavish Fifth Avenue home five days ago, they also might turn out to be as unimportant as a woman's purse and glove that sparked police interest for a time.

Herman said these female belongings, found in the slain man's bedroom, had been traced to Pat Wray, one of Rubinstein's girlfriends.

Skating Tonight Questionable

The appearance of warm sun this morning made it questionable whether the city's ice rinks would be available to skaters tonight.

Harry Edson, assistant superintendent of the city recreation department, said late this morning there would be no skating this afternoon but it was impossible to forecast what the ice might be like by night.

He said the snow would be shoveled off early this afternoon.

Churchill Hopes Reds To Comply Calls Invitation Genuine Effort

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill expressed the hope today that the Chinese Communist regime will accept the UN Security Council's invitation to discuss a Formosa cease-fire.

Churchill told the House of Commons:

"The Security Council has decided to send an invitation to the (Communist) Chinese government to attend the discussion."

"Her Majesty's government regard the Security Council's actions as a genuine attempt to seek a peaceful solution and they therefore very much hope that the Chinese government will accept the invitation."

The 80-year-old prime minister made the statement in an address to the House of Commons.

Still to be confirmed were Isador Lubin of New York city as industrial commissioner, Edward T. Dickinson of Syracuse as commerce commissioner and Angela Parisi of New York as a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board. Gov. Wicks Seconds DeSapio As Secretary of State

Tammany Leader Carmine G. DeSapio held office officially as New York's secretary of state today, according to the Associated Press, his nomination having been seconded by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city, characterized as a long-time friend of the Democratic boss of Manhattan.

However, three other appointees to top posts in the Harriman administration still lacked Senate confirmation, the AP report said.

DeSapio, an early backer of Gov. Harriman's candidacy, was confirmed unanimously by the Republican-controlled Senate last night as the GOP thawed its deep freeze on major Harriman appointments.

THE SENATE also stamped its approval on two other of Harriman's cabinet nominations: Charles Abrams as state rent administrator and George M. Bragalin as commissioner of taxation and finance.

All are from New York city. DeSapio is the chairman of the New York county Democratic organization — Tammany Hall. His predecessor, Thomas J. Curran, is New York county GOP chief.

Still to be confirmed were Isador Lubin of New York city as industrial commissioner, Edward T. Dickinson of Syracuse as commerce commissioner and Angela Parisi of New York as a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board. Gov. Harriman has designated Miss Parisi to be chairman of the compensation board.

DICKINSON'S appointment was submitted last night. It was referred to the finance committee.

Sen. Austin W. Erwin of Genesee, chairman of the finance committee, said he expected the Lubin and Parisi appointments would be reported to the full Senate next Monday night.

Erwin said again that his committee was holding up appointments in order to have time to "investigate" them.

Sen. Francis J. Mahoney of Manhattan, Democratic minority leader in the Senate, who moved

Income Levy Is Up 11 Per Cent

By RICHARD P. HUNT

Albany, Feb. 1 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today sent a record-smashing $1,345,200,000 budget to the Legislature and demanded tax increases totaling 124 million dollars.

He called for state tax boosts of 11 per cent on personal incomes, 2 cents a gallon on gasoline and 3 cents on diesel fuel, 33 1/3 per cent on unincorporated business earnings and 9 per cent on corporation profits.

Income and unincorporated business levies will go up automatically on 1954 earnings because of the governor's veto of Republican bills to keep them at present levels. Republican majorities in the Legislature do not have the votes to override a veto.

THE OTHER PROPOSED increases would take effect April 1—but not without the approval of the GOP lawmakers.

Harriman, New York's first Democratic governor in 12 years, called for outlays of $1,077,000,000 beyond estimated state spending in the current 1954-55 fiscal year, ending March 31, which is the last under a budget submitted by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

But Harriman contended that all the $6,100,000 of the increase in his budget for the 1955-56 fiscal year was forced upon him by inescapable commitments made by Dewey's Republican administration.

Harriman's tax proposals were virtually certain to churn up stormy opposition by Republican leaders in both Houses of the Legislature.

But the governor at a news conference: "If the Legislature doesn't want to approve tax increases, it can reduce aid to communities or abandon services."

HARRIMAN ADDED a thinly veiled threat to the Republicans: That he would continue to freeze 202 million dollars worth of big new construction contracts "until it is clear that the income required . . . will be provided."

The governor recommended total appropriations of $1,905,000,000.

They would be split into $1,281,300,000 for local assistance and state operations, 260 1/2 millions in new appropriations from (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

GOP Sees Boost As Certain Issue

Albany, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Legislature's Republican leaders today gave up hope of heading off an 11 per cent state income tax increase.

That was the first private reaction to Gov. Harriman's budget message, calling for a record $1,345,200,000 in spending for 1955-56 and a 42 1/2-million-dollar income tax boost.

Republican leaders warily declined immediate comment on the budget. Yet they were held certain to repeat their charges that Harriman planned a "high tax administration."

The Democratic governor asked for 124 million dollars in tax increases, including an income tax boost of 11 per cent and 33 1/3 jump in unincorporated business taxes. The last (Continued on Page 9, Col. 6)

Matusow Says He Offered False Reports as Witness

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Ex-Communist Harvey Matusow says he gave false testimony as a government witness in the trial of the 13 convicted second-string Communist leaders and that Roy M. Cohn, then an assistant U. S. attorney here, "worked with me" in preparing testimony.

An affidavit to that effect from Matusow was filed yesterday in Federal Court in support of a motion for a new trial for the 13.

Sessions Recessed For Period Red China Radio Has No Comment

United Nations, Feb. 1 (AP)—UN Security Council discussion of a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait today awaited Red China's answer to the council's bid for Peiping spokesmen to join in the debate.

UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld cabled the invitation to the Chinese Communist capital last night after the council voted to:

1. Take up New Zealand's request for debate on "hostilities in the area of certain islands" off China.

2. Invite the Chinese Reds to participate in the debate; and

3. Delay until after the New Zealand proposal council consideration of renewed Soviet demands for immediate withdrawal of U. S. armed forces from the Formosa area and surrender of the coastal islands to Peiping.

THE COUNCIL THEN recessed its sessions until Hammarskjöld hears from Peiping. Some delegates speculated that Red Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai himself might decide to attend.

A Peiping radio broadcast today made no mention of the council invitation but said that New Zealand should withdraw its proposal—which is aimed at a cease-fire—in favor of the Russian resolution. Quoting from the official Chinese Communist newspaper, the Peiping People's Daily, the broadcast repeated Red Chinese pledges to "liberate" Formosa, the Pescadores and coastal islands and asserted "interference" would not be permitted. It added that only U. S. withdrawal from the area will ease tension there.

U. S. CHIEF DELEGATE Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. voted with eight other council members to extend the invitation to Peiping. But Lodge quickly made plain to the council his vote meant no change in U. S. opposition to seating Red China in the UN or in American refusal to recognize the Peiping regime.

Lodge said because Red China is a party to the armed conflict, the United States has to deal with Peiping just as it had to on the Korean and Indochina truce questions at Geneva. The UN charter also required that both sides in a dispute before the council must be invited to debates, but Red China would have no vote.

Lodge endorsed the New Zealand proposal, which envisions the writing of a council cease-fire resolution after Red China and all other parties have been heard in the debate. The U. S. delegate called the Soviet resolution a "preposterous cold war fraud."

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang voted against the invitation to Peiping, saying that the Chinese Communists were still on the UN books as condemned aggressors in Korea. He also opposed addition of the Soviet resolution to the agenda and abstained on the vote setting de-

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Feb. 1 (AP)—A state study commission has asked the Legislature to adopt a bill that would provide for dismissal of any public employee who refused to answer questions at an official inquiry.

The proposal was among 165 changes in state civil service regulations suggested in a bill introduced yesterday by Republican Assemblyman Fred W. Preller of Queens, chairman of the temporary state commission on revision of the civil service law.

THE COMMISSION also recommended: Modifying the Condon-Wadlin anti-strike act to give persons penalized under it the right to appeal.

Giving all permanent employees in the competitive class the right to a hearing before removal or other disciplinary action.

Authorizing civil service commissions to reverse a decision to fire an employee.

Broadening and liberalizing provisions for transferring employees.

Other measures proposed changing the state constitution to speed action on school bond issues, and a state study to determine whether a part of the Barge canal could be used for irrigation of crops.

THE PRELLER bill provides that "any public employee claiming a constitutional privilege against self-incrimination, or who refuses to waive immunity or to answer questions concerning his official conduct or duties upon any duly authorized inquiry, shall vacate his position."

The provision obviously is aimed at witnesses who refuse to answer questions on the grounds of protection under the Fifth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, which provides that no person may be required to be a witness against himself.

Preller said the commission had voted 6-4 against recommending repeal of the Condon-Wadlin act, which prohibits public employees from striking.

GOV. HARRIMAN has said the act should be replaced by machinery permitting employees to air their grievances.

Commission members who voted against repeal were Preller, Sen. Austin W. Erwin, Geneseo Republican, Assemblyman Orin S. Wilcox of Jefferson county, Clyde A. Lewis, H. Eliot Kaplan and William D. McCallum.

Voting for repeal were Alexander A. Falk, president of the State Civil Service Commission, Rep. Frank L. Tolman, and Assemblyman Frank J. Puno and Sen. Thomas J. Cuite, both Brooklyn Democrats.

Preller said the commission had voted unanimously to provide the right of appeal to any employee penalized under the act.

THE REVISION of the 72-year-old Civil Service Law would be the first since 1909.

Sen. Walter G. McGahan and Assemblyman Anthony P. Savarese, Jr., Queens Republicans, proposed the constitutional change on school bond issues.

At present, the constitution provides that only one bond issue—plus one housing bond issue—may be considered at a general election. McGahan and Savarese would make a further exception to allow voters to pass on a school bond issue as well.

Erwin and Republican Assemblyman Alonzo P. Waters of Orleans county offered a bill proposing creation of a temporary state commission to study use of part of the Barge canal for crop irrigation.

Waters said that the section of the Barge canal in western New York "offers a particularly accessible source of water supply that might be used by the farmers of the area to advantage."

Operations Halt At Fox Hollow

Drilling operations at the Fox Hollow site, near Phenicia, where Dome Gas and Oil Corporation is engaged in exploring for natural gas, have been resumed and will not be resumed until present well is cased and control valves installed.

Sidney Lieberman, president of Dome Gas and Oil, today told a Freeman reporter most of the pipe to be used for casing the well is at the site and has been installed. It is expected the remainder of the casing will be installed in the well by Wednesday or Thursday and then cement will be poured to anchor the pipe. At least 72 hours will be required to dry the cement before drilling operations will be resumed.

LAST WEEK the drilling operations tapped what is believed to be Oriskany gas bearing sand at a depth of 5,200 feet. Drilling was immediately stopped until casing could be installed and valves placed to control any additional flow of gas which may be struck when drilling is resumed.

Lieberman said it was expected drilling would be resumed February 8 or 9 in an effort to "bring in the well." Meanwhile Lieberman said all of the stock issue offered by the company had been sold and there was none being offered except between present holders of stock and those who seek to buy stock from owners. He said the officers of the company were not offering any of their stock for sale and he did not know what price the stock might be bringing between sellers and buyers.

When drilling operations are resumed in an effort to bring in the well, Lieberman said it would be done in the presence of officials of the company and representatives of the press.

Bruck Offers New Funeral Plan

The Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home of 27 Smith avenue has recently announced its connection with the Professional Securities Corp. of Kansas City, Mo., permitting them to offer an insured payment plan for funeral purchase.

Because death is almost always accompanied by large and unusual expense such as hospital bills, doctor bills, and nursing bills, Henry J. Bruck says that the use of the insured payment plan for funeral purchase will save many funeral buyers additional trouble and worry at a time when financial worry should not be added to their burden of grief caused by death.

The plan permits any funeral buyer who is credit-worthy to pay for the cost of the service in monthly payments of six months, 12 months, or 18 months, according to his desire. For those who have income of money only a few times a year or for estate settlement of funeral purchase, the insured payment plan includes a single payment plan for either three, six, nine or 12 months.

One of the most desirable features of the plan, Bruck says, is the fact that the note maker's life is fully insured without medical examination. Should death occur any time during the duration of the obligation, the entire unpaid balance is paid by the life insurance feature of the contract.

The insured payment plan will permit the funeral buyer to pay for the entire expense out of income.

Donald Lawatsch Condition 'Fair'

Donald Lawatsch, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lawatsch of 10 Woodland avenue, was reported "apparently fair" this morning at Kingston Hospital after his car skidded off a road in High Falls about 8 a. m. today.

Hospital authorities said he might have suffered a possible concussion.

His father, assistant cashier of the State of New York National Bank, said Donald was on his way home from Cornell University, Ithaca, when the accident occurred. He had just delivered the last of several Cornell students who live in the area and was on his way home, his father said, when he skidded, bounced over a ditch and into a telephone pole.

His father said Donald, a senior at Cornell, was returning for the mid-term vacation. He had driven for about eight hours over difficult roads when he reached High Falls.

Big Debate Ahead

gram, Stevens said, "and have no higher figure in mind."

Te army civilian chief declared himself "well satisfied" with the size of forces allotted the army, describing them as "adequate to do the job at hand."

It is the administration's plan to trim the army from 1,170,000 men as of last July 1 to 1,100,000 by next June 30 and to 1,027,000 by mid-1956. The stated objective is to maintain military forces in balance with economic factors.

AS THE HOUSE committee turned its attention to President Eisenhower's request for a four-year extension of the draft law, Rep. Brooks (D-La.) said congressional concern over the manpower program is certain to show up in House and Senate debate when the draft bill is considered.

"If the army is being reduced, people are going to ask why the draft law must be extended four years," he told newsmen.

The committee summoned Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, and Carter L. Burgess, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, as first witnesses (10 a. m.) on legislation to continue the draft for four years beyond next June 30. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said he hoped the committee would have a bill ready for the House next Monday. Despite some congressional concern over the manpower program, the draft extension is expected to pass without trouble.

Vinson told newsmen there would be no committee action now on the manpower issue. But he said he expected individual committee members would have something to say on the question when army appropriations come before the House soon.

Churchill Hopes

swer to a question. He is host now at a conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London.

LABORITE Philip Noel-Baker asked in view of the gravity of the clashes between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists whether Churchill would consider sending Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to New York to sit on the Security Council meetings.

"Is it not plain that debates in the council, and negotiations outside, cannot be adequately dealt with by an official acting on cabled instructions?" Noel-Baker asked.

Churchill replied: "I certainly do not think we have any reason to complain about the way our affairs have been conducted."

SIR PIERSON DIXON, veteran career diplomat, is Britain's permanent representative to the United Nations.

Laborite John Strachey asked if Britain would make it publicly known that she favored the early withdrawal of Chinese Nationalist troops "at any rate from the offshore island, as the most important practical steps towards a cease-fire in this area."

Churchill refused to commit himself.

Eden indicated in the Commons last week he believed a cease-fire should be based on a Chinese Nationalist withdrawal from all the islands except Formosa and the Pescadores, which the United States is committed to defend. Eden also gave general support to President Eisenhower's moves to avoid a head-on clash in the area.

Central Hudson Income Increased 16 Per Cent in '54

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., reported today its net income increased 16 per cent in 1954 to $3,220,607 from $2,781,124 in 1953.

Earnings were equal to 94 cents a share on 2,633,956 shares of common stock outstanding compared with 90 cents a share on 2,259,642 shares outstanding a year ago.

The preliminary report mailed to stockholders put operating revenues for 1954 at $23,164,713, a gain of 8 per cent from the $21,457,071 the year before.

Ernest P. Acker, president, said "were due principally to the continued growth of the company's electric and gas sales and the reduction in purchased power costs resulting from the first full year's operation of the 25,000 kilowatt Neversink hydroelectric plant and the operation during the last 3½ months of the year of the second unit of the Danskammer Point steam station."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—The stock market advanced today, but not without considerable hesitation and setbacks from profit-taking.

Yesterday the market attained a new 1955 high, the best level since the all-time peaks of 1929, and today it continued on ahead. There were many wide moves in the list, most of them impelled by split proposals. A number of gains went to between 2 and 5 points. Losses occasionally extended to around a point.

Trading was in the vicinity of yesterday's 3½ million shares. Most steels were higher along with rubbers, oils, airlines, building materials, and utilities.

Airports, that did well at first, turned highly mixed later. Also mixed were radio-televisions, chemicals, and coppers. The motors were steady. Railroads leaned lower.

Minneapolis-Honeywell regular shot ahead between 4 and 5 points right after directors proposed a two-for-one split.

Your Income Tax

By FRANK O'BRIEN
AP Newsfeatures

What can I deduct? Where do I do it? How much? Under what circumstances?

These are the perennials of income taxpaying time.

This year, you will be filing your income tax return under a brand new law that allows some important new tax cutting deductions—for around town expenses of employees, for soil conservation expenses of farmers, and, among personal deductions, for interest on installment purchases, child care, contributions and medical costs.

All previous deductions are still permitted.

As always, you will get the biggest tax benefit from deductions if you understand clearly how the tax law groups them.

In the new law, as in the old, there are three main groups of deductions. These are:

1. Deductions of business expenses of employees.

2. Personal deductions.

3. The businessman (proprietor, partner, farmer or professional), can deduct from his profits all "ordinary and necessary" business expenses. This is done on special schedules designed to show all business expenses and income, and the results are transferred to summary schedule C of form 1040, where any losses being carried forward from previous years can be deducted from profits. Since the farmer is a businessman, he deducts for his soil and water conservation costs as a business cost, not as an employee expense.

This article will deal with the business expenses of employees.

The next article of this series will deal with personal deductions.

Business-connected employee expenses are deducted, within set limits, from your gross (total) income, on page 1 of form 1040. Deducting them, if any, is a step in finding your adjusted gross income, the basis for figuring your tax liability.

There are two kinds of business-connected deductions for employees. They are handled separately, and differently, and it will help you to get the full advantage of both your business-connected and personal deductions to understand clearly how to make your employee deductions.

The two kinds of employee business-connected deductions are:

1. Employee expenses that are reimbursed, in part or in whole, by your employer.

2. Employee expenses of which no part has been repaid to you.

In the first—reimbursed—class, you may include any kind of allowable deduction for employee expenses. But the amount of these deductions may not exceed the amount of expense money you received.

In the second—unreimbursed—class, you may include, as a business-connected expense, to be deducted on page 1 of form 1040, only three types of expenses. These are, expenses of travel away from home (you are "away from home" for tax purposes only when you are absent on business overnight); transportation around town, and the expenses of an outside salesman.

There are many other kinds of deductible employee expenses, including union dues, small tools required by your job, fees for membership in professional societies, necessary entertainment of customers, cost of safety equipment you supply, and all other "ordinary and necessary" expenses of your job.

When these are reimbursed expenses, they can be deducted on page 1 of form 1040, from your gross income, up to the amount you were reimbursed.

But when they are unreimbursed, they must be listed among your miscellaneous, personal deductions, (unless you are an outside salesman) on page 3, where you may itemize your personal deductions. If you choose not to itemize your personal deductions, you have no way to deduct you unreimbursed employee expenses other than costs of travel away from home, transportation around town, and expenses of an outside salesman.

Consequently, before you decide whether to itemize your personal deductions or take the standard personal deduction (10 per cent of your adjusted gross income), it is well to know:

(a) whether you have deductible employee expenses.

(b) if so, into what class of business-connected expenses they fall.

"Transportation around town" and "expenses of an outside salesman" are the new phrases in the new tax law, in connection with business-connected, employee expenses.

Around-town transportation costs were formerly not allowed by law as deductible employee expenses. They now are. They include local bus, street car, subway and taxi fares, and the cost of operating your own car in your work (but not to and from home transportation costs, either in your own car or otherwise).

Salesmen who work outside their employer's place of business ("outside salesmen") formerly could deduct their costs only among their personal deductions (and, therefore, only if they itemized). Under the new law, outside salesmen may deduct their business-connected expenses as a business cost.

An outside salesman is one who sells full time. This does not include part time salesmen, like milk delivery men, who may also do some business soliciting but whose main job is delivering.

The outside salesman can deduct all his "necessary and reasonable" business costs. These include:

Costs of telephone, stationery, secretarial help and entertainment of his customers, in addition to local transportation and away-from-home travel costs.

Travel costs away from home, for salesmen and for others, includes costs of room and board. Local expenses do not include meals.

You handle all your (partly or entirely) reimbursed employee expenses like this:

You first add to your total wages everything received from your employer as repayment for your business-connected expenses.

Then you subtract from the total your actual expenses, up to the total of expense money paid to you by your employer. You cannot subtract, as a business-connected expense, more of your reimbursed expenses than was reimbursed.

If your actual expenses were less than the expense money you received, you will come out of this computation with increased total income.

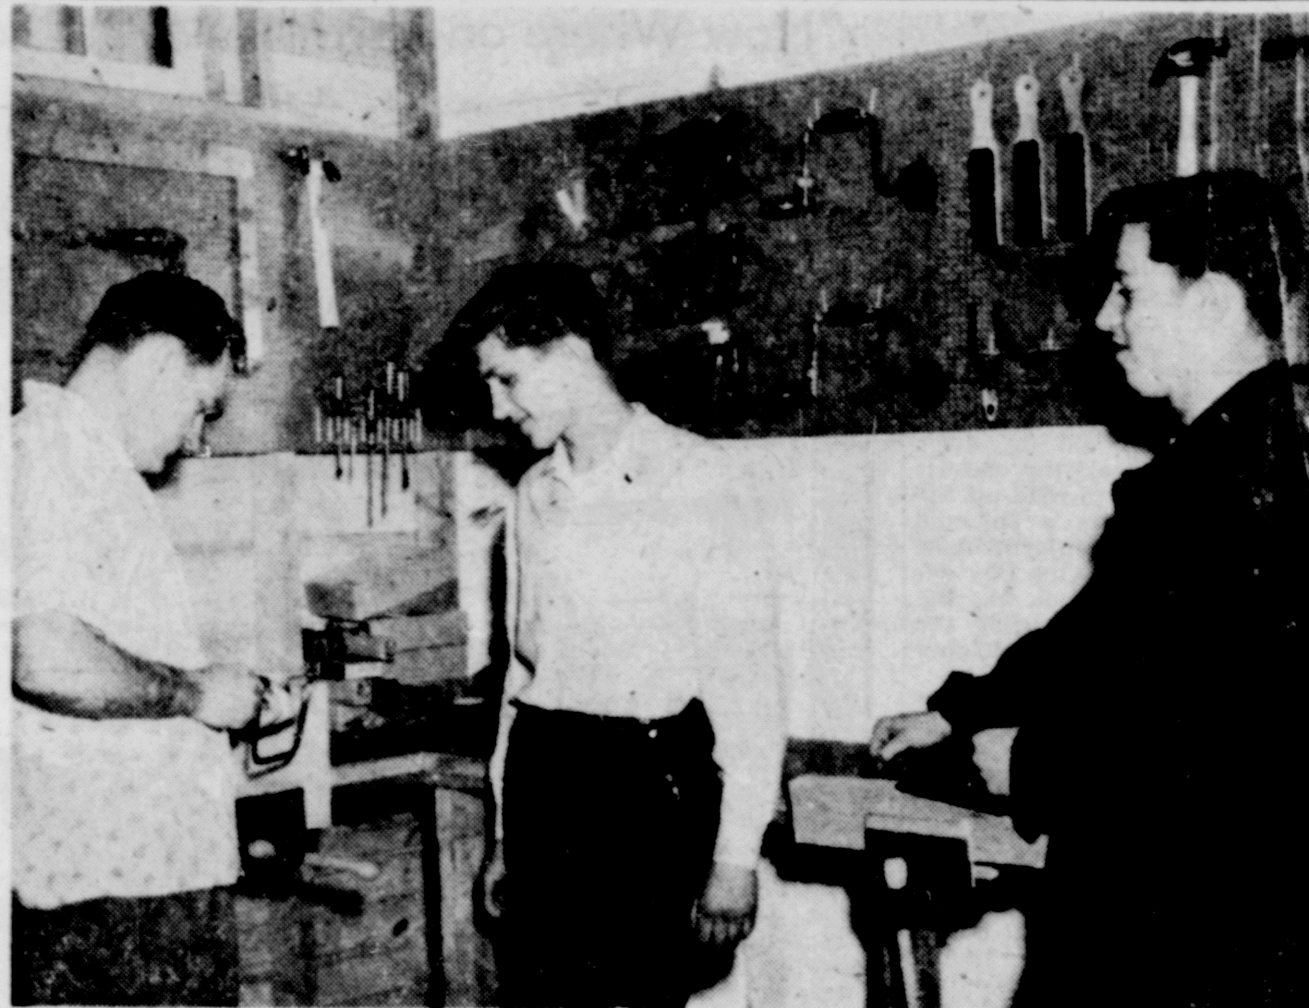

If your actual expenses were more than the expense money you received, (that is, if you were only partly reimbursed) you can deduct the remainder (your out-of-pocket expenses) among your personal expenses, if you itemize, on page 3 of form 1040.

And, as stated earlier, you may also carry over to your personal deductions (if you choose to itemize them) all of your reimbursed employee expenses except costs of travel away from home, around-town transportation, and all the necessary and ordinary business expenses of an outside salesman.

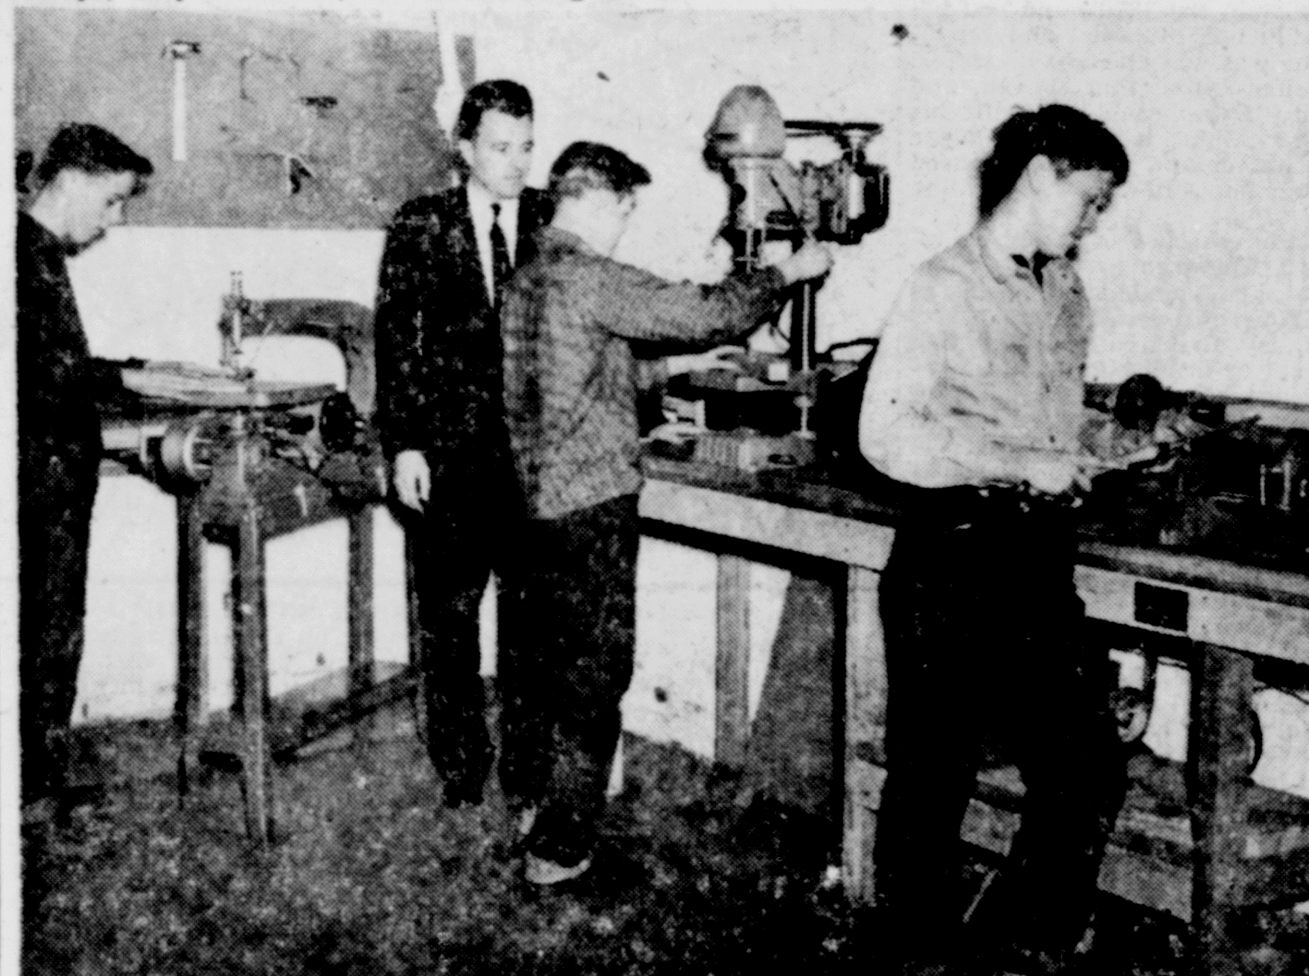

There is no special box or schedule in the tax form to figure your employee expense deductions. You must itemize them on a separate work sheet, which you attach to your return (always keeping a copy for yourself). You subtract your permissible employee deductions from your total income (make this subtraction a part of the worksheet), and enter the result as your total wages, in item 2, on page 1 of form 1040.

(NEXT: Your personal deductions.)

Stanbrough Fund Helps Teen-Agers At Local Home

A completely equipped workshop with power and hand tools has been installed at the Children's Home, 77 East Chester street, for use by the teen-agers residing there.

Cost of the tools and equipment was met from the Edward M. Stanbrough Fund, a trust set up some years ago by the will of the late Jane E. Stanbrough in memory of her deceased brother.

The work of setting up the workshop and tools was done by a staff member, Donald Shampo, with the help of the senior boys at the home.

GERALD E. SHAMPO, executive director, has pointed out that the woodworking shop will give the teen-agers a wide knowledge in the handling and use of tools which will prove of value to them in later life. Also, for those interested in learning a trade, it will provide a good background.

"We are happy that this good addition has been made for the children and we are looking forward to many happy hours with our boys and girls in the shop," Shampo said.

He explained that the Children's Home was faced with a new situation in having at present a larger number of teenage boys than formerly, when the average age of the children there was younger. These older boys, he said, "need to be provided with new and interesting ways to spend their leisure time."

The Edward M. Stanbrough Fund, through which the equipment was obtained, is used primarily for the benefit of the children of the Children's Home and for the children of Ulster county who do not have the financial means for an education.

THE MONEY for educational purposes is taken out in the form of a loan, which the recipient pays back to the fund after completing his education and obtaining employment.

Proceeds from the investment of the principal are available for certain projects, such as the workshop, sending children to summer camp, and other uses which are considered of an educational value, according to Dr. Frederic Holcomb, who for many years has been acting as trustee of the fund. Dr. Holcomb is himself an enthusiastic supporter of the woodworking shop project for the children.

ONLY 10 PER CENT of the receipts of the fund may be used for operational expenses, the remainder being earmarked primarily for educational purposes. Educational loans from the fund over the past approximately 12 years have enabled about 25 Ulster county residents to complete his college. Among the graduates are numbered doctors, nurses and other professional persons.

Edward M. Stanbrough, for whom the fund is named, was at one time supervisor of the 12th Ward in the city of Kings-

Emergency Cook

Rockville, Conn. (AP)—Fellow members of the American Legion agree that Jerry Remkiewicz is a handy man to have around when you're hungry. Rockville legionnaires arrived at their post for a chicken dinner only to find that the chickens had not been cooked, because the bakery which was supposed to do the job had misunderstood the order. Remkiewicz built a barbecue pit on the post grounds and cooked the 50 chickens.

Next Question

Bridgeport, Conn. (AP)—As a homework assignment, teachers asked Bridgeport students to find out what the "A" stands for in Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff's name. No one, including newspapers, could provide the answer. Finally, a reporter put the question to the governor himself. Said Ribicoff: "My middle name is Alexander."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 1, 1955

PACT ON JUVENILES

Eighteen states have tentatively agreed to deal cooperatively with juvenile delinquents who cross state lines. The meetings at which the agreements were reached were held under the auspices of the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Interstate Cooperation and the Council of State governments. The compact must be authorized by a joint resolution of the United States Congress and will become effective when approved by individual state legislatures.

The idea is sound. The plan will provide for interstate cooperation in supervising delinquents who cross state lines, for the return of escapees from institutions, return of non-delinquent runaways and the placing in institutions of delinquents who are psychotic or mentally deficient.

The states must work together to meet this mutual problem. It is reported that some 30,000 juveniles run away every year. Many of these cross state lines and while not all of them may be called delinquents they present no small problem to the state in which they are apprehended.

JERSEY INJUSTICE

New Jersey's Gov. Robert B. Meyner is justified in asking the legislature to make over the state's congressional districts so that they will conform more closely to population. Some districts have only 250,000 inhabitants, while others have 400,000.

This of course is unfair, but it is a politicians' arrangement which only strong indignation on the part of the voters can upset. The New Jersey legislature, like many others, is itself unfairly apportioned. A small minority of the voters absolutely control the state Senate, because of a constitutional provision giving all counties, whether large or small, an equal representation. A body thus constituted can hardly be expected to deal fairly when arranging congressional districts.

So many states have similar injustices that there is little temptation to listen to pleas for taking legislative powers away from Congress and giving them to the states. The states should first set their own houses in order.

NORMALCY NOT NORMAL

Americans sometimes contrast the peaceful atmosphere that surrounded the country in their youth with today's tension, when war against a dangerous opponent may occur at any moment. Yet if they look around the world, they will conclude that it was our past peace that was unusual.

This point is made in "Civilization and Foreign Policy," by Louis J. Halle, formerly in the State Department, where he acquired the perspective which service there can confer. He says:

"The security which distinguished most of our national history was itself quite out of the ordinary. The loss of this security in our day confronts us simply with the ordinary condition of affairs such as almost all states have had to face in all times."

This is a new illustration of the old observation that trouble is the lot of man, and should not cause the victim to repine unduly.

HONORING THE GREAT

Even this far ahead plans are under way for commemorating the 200th anniversaries of the birth of John Marshall and Alexander Hamilton. Marshall was born on Sept. 24, 1755, and Hamilton on Jan. 11, 1757. This should give plenty of time to make the arrangements in the case of Hamilton, and perhaps enough for Marshall. Though the same commission might legitimately work on both, as they were contemporaries and of much the same political philosophy, President Eisenhower has named separate bodies.

It is hard to imagine how the nation could have been successful without the unparalleled combination of Hamilton and Jefferson. They were opposed in viewpoint, but when put in harness under Washington,

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
GET A DOG!

For nearly three decades, I have been fighting fat. Before I went to the Russian Revolution in 1917, I was a skinny fellow, but once I reached China, I began to put on weight. After not eating in Russia, eating became the greatest of joys and, in China, I enjoyed myself.

So I upped the usual three meals a day to five. As breakfast is the most important meal, according to the dietitians, I dutifully did my duty. Breakfast became a ritualistic meal; the courses stretched out to take enough time to read all the newspapers available. My cook was a splendid artist who revelled at his master's enjoyment of delicacies at breakfast. The Number One Boy enjoyed it too. Soon the Master would look like the laughing Buddha which would surely bring the household good luck. Besides, they got 10 per cent of everything that we spent.

Lunch was supposed to be a smaller meal but somehow, as prosperity came, it became the important time of day to hold business conferences, to meet important personalities. Who could diet or skimp on such an occasion; it might annoy the guest or the host whichever it might be?

Then came tea. We lived in those days in a British atmosphere and tea was very important. There are, of course, no calories in tea, but there are little sandwiches and crumpets and hot butter and muffins and cakes and pate de foie gras and all the goodies that are called snacks. No one wants to offend a hostess by ignoring what she so carefully prepared.

Often I would visit an old Chinese friend, Tong Shiao, about tea-time. Tong had been at Columbia University in the 1870's and had become a great figure in both imperial and republican China. Tea-time was when he took his coffee. He said that his coffee came from Hawaii, and he made it carefully, fixing each cup with his delicate, artistic fingers. First, he put some sugar in the cup; then some cream; then he poured half hot milk and half hot coffee. It was a filling experience.

Then, it is an offense not to accept an invitation. Sometimes I would go to two or three or even more a night, and sample such cuisine as is unimaginable to American steak-eaters.

I would always say that really I had had hardly anything to eat or drink but that was because I never did learn how to multiply. Therefore late at night, after copy was written and in, I would meet my wife somewhere to dance, she having spent the evening on her own because most of my engagements were with men only, sing-song girls not being counted as guests. How is it possible to dance without eating something to pay for a seat at a table?

Since then it has been a battle with obesity. Each doctor has his own diet list—designed to discourage eating at all.

The doctors all gave me the wrong advice. Instead, I got a dog. My old dog, Brodie, who died a gentle soul who adjusted herself to me. I took her out when I chose or got someone else to do it. Presently, I have a Dutchman whose real name is Walsdaag but we call him Joe. Joe brooks no nonsense. Either he is taken out at the right time or he produces clear evidence of his desires and needs. It is a question of saving the carpets. Joe has learned that as soon as he has performed, I take him home, so he delays performance, particularly when it rains or snows. Joe loves water and cold weather. He adores me; so he wakes me early each morning, at daybreak, to take him out.

So here is the way to end obesity. Get a dog! Especially if you live in a city apartment house where there are no yards for dogs. Walk the sidewalk, go into the windy parks, meet other dogs, have a wrestling match. Do it several times a day. Get a high-spirited dog, preferably a male because males love to ruin things, particularly carpets, and that makes you run faster to get out of the house before it happens.

Besides, the anxiety helps. Who wanted the dog, anyhow? When the wife says that, you lose six pounds standing still.

That Body of Yours

FACTS AND FABLES ABOUT THE HEART

While heart disease causes more deaths than any other single disease and naturally strikes more fear than any other, except, perhaps cancer, there are many methods of preventing death if the patient will follow the advice of his physician. As the nation as a whole enters this month the campaign to raise funds for the National Heart Association, some facts and fables about the heart should be noted. For example:

Fact: "Nothing can be done about heart disease."

Fact: Some forms of heart disease can be prevented, some can be cured. Doctors can help almost all cases, especially if diagnosed early.

Fact: "Most heart attacks are fatal."

Fact: After a heart attack, the majority recover to lead useful lives.

Fact: "You can't work if you have heart disease."

Fact: Most can still earn their living . . . often without changing jobs.

Fact: "Women with heart disease should not have children."

Fact: With proper medical care, most women with heart disease can bear children safely.

Fact: "Murmurs, chest pains and palpitations are sure signs of heart trouble."

Fact: Not necessarily . . . only your doctor can tell.

Another important fact concerns rheumatic fever, known as childhood's greatest enemy. Rheumatic fever, often the forerunner of rheumatic heart disease, affects some 1,000,000 Americans of all ages, striking most frequently in the 5-to-19 age group. It is almost always preceded by a streptococcal infection, usually of the throat—"strep throat." Today, thanks to research advances by medical science, rheumatic fever has taken its place among the preventable diseases. Initial attacks of rheumatic fever can be prevented by knocking out the "strep" infection with antibiotics like penicillin. At the first sign of a possible "strep" infection, parents should have their children see a physician who will determine the nature of the infection and take suitable steps to safeguard the child against rheumatic fever by promptly treating the infection with an antibiotic drug.

"In some localities, school districts conduct preventive programs. If the child complains of a sore throat, a throat swab is taken by the school nurse. The swab is cultured in a laboratory to determine whether it is positive or negative for 'strep.' If found positive, the child, now known to be suffering from a 'strep' infection sees her doctor for treatment."

Such programs as these require understanding of the dangers of rheumatic fever and a willingness on the part of the community to contribute the funds necessary to carry them out.

they could work in fair harmony, each preventing the other from going too far. Hamilton is probably our most brilliant public servant born outside of our territory. He was a native of Nevis in the West Indies. Marshall made the judiciary an invaluable force in our governmental operations.

"Now Where on Earth Is My 'I Like Ike' Button?"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA)—Admiral Lewis Strauss, as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, feels he has had more than his fair share of troubles with Congress and the public. These troubles have arisen over such things as the atomic energy law, the Dixon-Yates contract for private power in the Tennessee Valley, and the Oppenheimer security case.

Admiral Strauss told the National Press Club that the main purpose of AEC's public information department was to keep him out of trouble. But even these skilled public relations men haven't been able to do that, so he has hired a personal, special assistant to work on this problem. He is Everett Holles, former Mutual Broadcasting system commentator.

As an expression of how sensitive he is about public relations, Admiral Strauss has written what he calls the Strauss law:

"If anything bad can possibly happen, it probably will."

WHEN U. S. AMBASSADOR to Italy Clare Boothe Luce was in Washington last summer, she complained about having to carry around a woman's handbag, with all the things in it that women carry in handbags.

When Mrs. Luce returned to Washington recently, it was observed that she carried no handbag to conferences. Instead, she carried all the things she used to carry in a handbag in her brief case. She had done away with the handbag she detested so much—by getting a bigger one.

SENATOR BOB KERR (D., Okla.) announced in a recent newsletter to his constituents that he will strive during this session of Congress to "Amend the tax law to benefit the many instead of the few."

In response to a query, however, the senator's office makes clear that this resolution does not apply to any changes in the tax laws which give big depletion allowances to the producers of oil and natural gas, of which he himself is one.

What Senator Kerr's letter to the Oklahoma voters was intended to convey is that he is planning to have the U. S. income tax exemption raised from the present $500 to $700 a person. During the last session of Congress, Senator Kerr joined with Democrats Walter George of Georgia and Allen J. Frear, Jr., of Delaware to make this $100 increase in exemption effective. But the Eisenhower administration opposed the idea and it never got to first base.

Senator Kerr does not believe that tax depreciation for oil and gas producers benefits just the few. He claims it benefits the many and that if it were not in effect, oil and gas prices would be higher than they now are, through decreased production.

IT WILL PROBABLY take a congressional appropriations committee investigation to drag out all the facts, but the Eisenhower budget cut of Tennessee Valley Authority funds from $214 million this year to only $22 million for next year was not the idea of TVA officials.

The original TVA request for new construction funds is now a closely guarded secret. Government agencies aren't supposed to talk about how much their initial requests for funds are cut by the Budget Bureau and the White House.

But it was generally known beforehand that TVA has big plans for expansion to meet its constantly expanding power market. These plans were brushed aside while the administration thinks up new plans for financing power development by some means other than direct government appropriation.

Wu Believes Formosa Will Fall to Reds Without War or Big Fight

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 1—Exactly what is going to happen in the next few months in the game being played by Red China and Soviet Russia in the Far East has just been outlined by one of the best posted men on Chinese affairs in the world today. He is K. C. Wu, until a year and a half ago governor of Formosa and once the right-hand man of Chiang Kai-shek. He sees as the ultimate outcome the acquisition of Formosa by Red China without a war or any major fight because, he thinks, the allies not only have been entrapped already but are likely to continue to be as the Red's formula unfolds.

MR. WU IN 1953 broke with Chiang Kai-shek and came to America, where he had spent his student days at Grinnell College, Iowa, and later attended the graduate college of Princeton University. He is not pro-Chiang but ardently anti-Communist and speaks forthrightly on the China situation.

The predictions made by Mr. Wu have come true in part already in the last few days. Last Thursday he gave to the editors of "U. S. News & World Report" a copyrighted interview, some of the prophecies in which, before it could even be published this week, have already been borne out. He said, for example, that Soviet Russia would go immediately to the UN Security Council and call the United States an aggressor, and this development has just happened. He said that influential groups would call for a "two-China" settlement, and only this week Justice Douglas, the Supreme Court of the United States has added his voice to those of prominent officials in Europe who believe that, by making Formosa independent and recognizing Red China, the Far Eastern problem will be solved.

MR. WU, HOWEVER, thinks that it's all a game whereby the Communists in China will acquire Formosa without a fight. He sees no danger of war, because the Communists can get the objective more easily by negotiation.

He said in his interview that Red China has always had a formula of "fight and negotiate." He added:

"The (the Communist Chinese), under the guidance and mentorship of Moscow, think they can win this game in Formosa by this fighting-and-negotiating process."

"Now, just to analyze the events of the last few months: 'Last September they started to talk about the liberation of Formosa. And then up to December they realized they couldn't do very much by fighting. They had been engaged only in the bombardment of Quemoy and the exchange of a few air raids—that's all. It had its nuisance value, but they couldn't do very much. And so they finally concocted a plan. They wanted to have negotiations and they made a trap for you and you fell for it.'"

THE INTERVIEW continued: "Q: What was the trap?"

A: "The trap was this—they suddenly sentenced those 13 prisoners of war in December. Those 13 prisoners had been imprisoned by them all the time after the Korean armistice. But the reason why they chose to announce the sentence in December was because they thought, by doing that, they might trap you into trying to discuss the release of the prisoners with them."

Q: In other words, they finally succeeded in getting us into a negotiation?

A: Yes. That was a bait to make you negotiate. And you didn't trap, and you sent Hammarikjold, Dag Hammarikjold, secretary general of the United Nations, over to talk to them. And by getting Hammarikjold over, they won two points—two results already.

The Applause Meter

By FRANK TRIPP

If there had been one of those meters that register applause in the room, the high for that occasion would have been when President Ike advocated increased pay for Congress, in his last message.

I'd be the last to surmise that Ike deliberately resorted to the ham trick that takes the hand-cuffs off an audience and sets 'em clapping. Nevertheless the effect of sweet scented salve seems the same in Washington's corridors as at a longshoremen's clambake.

Whoever heard of a speaker being egged for begging higher pay for his listeners?

Just whether the boys who vote away our tax money like it was hay, need, deserve or just plain yen for more pay, this chronicler knoweth not.

But he's dead sure of one thing, that there'll be no party line vote when you next hear about it.

LEW DOCKSTADER, famed old-time minstrel, had an end man gag that lifts the situation in reverse.

Lew would say to the interlocutor, "have you heard about the move to reduce congressmen's pay?"

The interlocutor would brush it off with, "Certainly, Mr. Bones; everybody has heard about that," and switch to a different topic.

Repeatedly Lew would go back to the same question, "Have you heard," etc. After half a dozen times the irritated interlocutor would say, "That's enough of that Lew. Why do you annoy these good people by continually bringing up the subject of reducing congressmen's pay?"

"Because that's the last they're going to hear about it," Lew would reply—and get his laugh.

But, brother, this time you haven't heard the last of it.

WONDER IF I'm the only guy in the country who isn't sure what party he belongs to. I was brought up by a Massachusetts Democrat father; then which nothing ever was democrat—to coin a short-cut word.

Pop ran out on the party when he thought William G. McAdoo ruined the railroads under Wilson. I stuck till I thought the New Deal ruined American initiative and individualism. Then I ran—but to where?

For example: Tariff and free trade once importantly distinguished the two major parties. The Democrats were free traders. Now we see the white hope of the Republicans and the United Nations pitching Democrat quibbles.

The tariff issue is so muddled up that a man with strong notions about it can't tell for sure which party best fits his convictions.

THE REAL TRAGEDY of it is that the voter most affected by tariff knows and cares the least about it—the American worker. He has been so busy electing the gimme boys that he hasn't decided if it is better for him to have the product of his labor protected against the low wages, slave labor and shenanigans of other countries.

Or better for him that low tariffs give his product a greater world market. He can't tell you which would mean more work, higher pay and more security for his family.

Because political parties and politicians for nearly two generations have made the major issue "something for nothing." So much so that by now the little man is just as confused about the buttered vote gimmicks as he is about the tariff.

WHAT CAN BE had by honest effort and cautious legislation has given way to who offers more handouts—and makes more dependents, more leeches, cinchers and cheaters among the electorate. To get in, the outs just promise more of the same thing.

The day when citizens picked their party for its stand upon issues which could make or break the American economy seems to have passed among that mass of voters who hold the balance of power.

So, in millions of places across the land, as in the halls of Congress, the applause meter shoots highest when a political pitchman shouts, "More pay, shorter hours."

And spins like a whirling dervish when one of 'em bellows that fantastic humbug: "Something for nothing."

CP Directors Hear Reports on Concert And Dental Clinic

At the directors meeting of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Center last week in the library of the City Laboratory, there was discussion of a fund raising concert Thursday, Feb. 24, and the dental plan at the clinic, according to the report of the publicity chairman, Mrs. J. W. Cutler.

Dr. H. L. Bibby, president of Ulster County, CP chapter, presided at the session during which it was announced that the concert planned by the 50 Club to promote IBM Male and Mixed Chorus is meeting with responsive demand and the ticket sale is expected to raise a goodly amount for the Center.

The 50 Club is an organization in the city's Seventh ward which is chiefly interested in children and is prominently known for the annual July 4th field day run at Block Park, which has been popular over a period of years with little folks of the downtown area and their parents and friends.

Tickets for the concert are available from directors of the CP Center or members of the 50 Club for the February 24 event, to start at 8:15 p. m.

Commenting on the dental clinic at the CP Center, Dr. George Bushnell reported that appointments are arranged a half day a week with area dentists volunteering their service, which is greatly needed and appreciated. It was reported that other clinics in the state are planning to copy the arrangement.

It was announced that Henry Lampl, a psychologist connected with the Kingston school system, has joined the staff at the CP center as a consultant.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jensen will give a combined organ and voice recital Sunday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p. m. at the St. James Methodist Church, Pearl and Fair streets. The public is invited.

Wilma Hoyle Jensen began her musical studies on the piano and continued this work simultaneously with her study of the organ for many years. At the age of 12, she was the regular organist in her father's church in Illinois and at that time was widely publicized by the Chicago Daily News as "the youngest organist in Methodism."

THE CELEBRATED French organist, Joseph Bonnet, heard Miss Hoyle when she was still a youngster and complimented her on her "gift and the control of her hands, unusual in one so young. Miss Hoyle's teachers included Ruth Melville Bellatti, a pupil of Marcel Dupre and, at the Eastman School of Music, Catherine Crozier Gleason, recently acclaimed the foremost woman organist in America.

Donald Jensen, bass-baritone, is a native of Beloit, Wis., where his first musical training was begun. He received both his bachelor and master of music degrees at the Eastman School of Music where he sang in many leading operatic roles including Così fan tutti by Mozart, La Bohème by Puccini, the Devil and Daniel Webster by Douglas Moore, the Consul and Amelia Goes to the Ball by Menotti.

Dr. K. N. Alexander Presides at Meeting Of Methodist Group

The Rev. Kenneth N. Alexander, pastor of St. James Methodist Church and president of the alumni association of Drew Theological Seminary, presided at the mid-winter meeting of the association at Christ Church, Methodist, New York, yesterday.

The Rev. Bernhard W. Anderson, dean of the seminary, who addressed the meeting, said a strong voice from the pulpit was vitally needed to fortify the church against secular pressures which would destroy it. He called attention to the decline in the "prestige, authority and influence" of the Protestant clergy since the early Puritan days in New England and stated that the condition was due not only to historical and social factors but also to a failure to recruit talented men into the ministry.

He warned ministers not to lose their identity and diffuse their energies in the effort to be "amiable, a good mixer, a good organizer" while resorting to "innocuous sentimentalism in the pulpit." The recovery of the minister's voice, Dean Anderson concluded, rests upon the rediscovery of the Bible as a source of inspiration and authority, the rediscovery of the church as the agent of God's redemptive work, and the rediscovery of John Wesley's theology as the voice of Methodism.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

WHEN ASKED WHAT HE WOULD LIKE

A wife writes me as follows:

"My husband is going to retire from his place of employment after 30 years of service. The company is going to give a dinner in his honor and at that time will present him with a gift. One of the men in charge of the arrangements called and asked me if I could give him an idea of what my husband would like in the way of a present. There isn't anything that I can think of that he really wants except that he has always said he would like to be able to take a trip to the coast after his retirement. As our funds are rather limited, would it be proper for me to suggest that they give him the money they had intended to spend on a present instead so that he may put it toward this trip?"

I think that if you know the man who asked you the question at all well, you can tell him frankly that you know nothing could give your husband more pleasure than a gift that could be used toward the cost of a trip to the coast which he has always longed to make.

When the Telephone Call Is Personal

Dear Mrs. Post: When I am seated in my employer's office taking dictation and he received a personal telephone call, is it proper for me to remain where I am, or should I leave and come back when he is through. I never know what to do in this situation and am often embarrassed just sitting there and trying not to listen to his sometimes very personal conversation.

Answer: You should start to get up and leave the room. He then can either let you go, or tell you to stay.

A Toast to His Bride

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in good taste for the bridegroom to propose a toast to his bride at the wedding reception? I had in mind saying something like the following—"To my lovely wife." I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: After the formal toast to the bride and groom, you can certainly propose the toast you wish to your bride.

Are you planning to give a shower for a friend or bride-to-be? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, leaflet E-13, "Showers," describes various kinds of showers, the entertainment and gifts. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Freeman, P. O. just what is the Stock Exchange?

Question submitted by Helen Longshore, Centerville, Iowa, Housewife.

In a recent survey, only one person in four (including people who owned stock) could describe reasonably well what the New York Stock Exchange does... so your question isn't silly at all.

There is nothing mysterious about the Stock Exchange. It's simply a place where stocks are bought and sold... quickly, easily, efficiently.

Without this national market place, a buyer might have a difficult time finding a seller. But as it is, a man in California who wants to buy 100 shares of a stock listed on the Exchange can do so usually within minutes simply by calling the office of a Member Firm of the Exchange. The stock he buys may come from a man in Maine who wants to sell. The two never see each other, but both accomplish what they want.

They are represented on the floor of the Exchange by brokers. The price is determined by open auction bidding. The entire transaction is subject to Exchange rules and all sales and prices are published promptly.

America's free market is fascinating to watch in action. We hope you'll visit it whenever you come to New York.

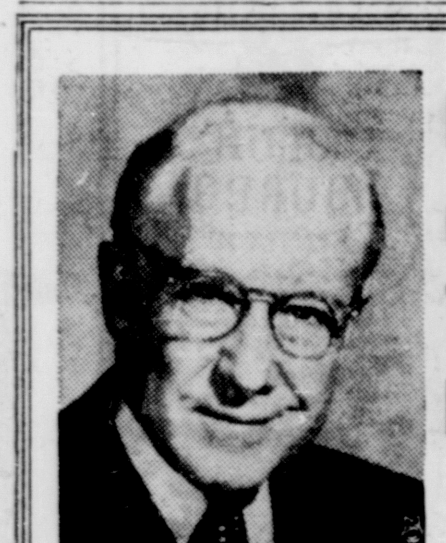

Are all stocks bought and sold on the Exchange? Question submitted by Neil Harner, Flushing, N. Y., Bank Collector.

No. Only shares in about 1,500 companies (including 96 out of 100 of the nation's largest corporations). At the time of the original listing, a company must submit a record of successful management. It must be owned by at least 1,500 people, have earned a million dollars or more the year before and agree to make at least one full financial report a year to its share owners so they can keep a close check to see if the company continues to do as well as when it was first listed.

Do you have a question... about investing or the Stock Market? Your nearest Member or Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange will be happy to answer it. You'll find a friendly welcome at any of 1,840 offices across the country.

FREE BOOKLET... tells you what stocks are, what cash dividends typical stocks have paid, how to buy stocks and about the new Monthly Investment Plan. For free copy of Investment Facts, get in touch with your local Member Firm or write directly to the New York Stock Exchange, Dept. 1E, P.O. Box 252, N. Y. 5, N. Y.

Three Fires Are Handled Locally

Two brush fires and a burning motor were extinguished by the Kingston Fire Department yesterday afternoon.

Wiltwyck Station dispatched equipment to 43 Valentin avenue at 1:20 p. m., where a brush fire had been reported. It was extinguished with Indian pumps and brooms.

A short circuit in the power motor of a machine at the Shirley Manufacturing Company, 38 Broadway, caused fire to break out at 3:25 p. m. Lint on the floor was ignited. The blaze was brought under control with pyrene extinguishers by Engine 2 from Cornell Station.

Engine 1 from Central, Union Hose and Cord's Hose were dispatched to Gross Wood at 5:05 p. m. for a brush fire which was extinguished with Indian pumps. Deputy Fire Chief James M. Brett said it was possible the fire might have been caused by "little boys with matches."

ARE YOU GETTING THAT MIDDLE AGED LOOK?

Today's hand wouldn't give an expert much trouble, but I'm afraid that many experienced players would miff it in actual play. After winning the first trick in dummy with the king of clubs, many players would automatically begin to draw trumps.

They would then struggle painfully through the rest of the hand, winding up in the minus column.

In this sort of hand there should be no hurry about drawing trumps. If the key suits, spades and hearts, break well it will be perfectly safe to draw trumps late rather than early. If the key suits break badly, it may be necessary to play a cross-ruff; and then drawing trumps will be out of the question.

The best line of play is to win the first trick with the king of clubs and lead a spade from the dummy at once. East naturally plays low, and South fineses the nine. West wins with the ten of spades and will probably lead the jack of clubs.

Dummy wins with the ace. South discarding the jack of diamonds, and the other spade is led. South plays low from his own hand, and West wins with the ace.

West leads a third club (as good a defense as any), and South ruffs with one of his low trumps. South leads a low spade, and West discards. Dummy ruffs and returns a trump to South's king. For safety's sake, South next cashes the ace and king of diamonds. Then he leads another spade and ruffs with dummy's last low trump.

At this point South has won eight tricks. He still has the queen of hearts in the dummy and the ace of hearts in his own hand. He can lead a club or a diamond from the dummy and ruff with the ace in his own hand, after which dummy's queen of hearts is found to provide the tenth trick.

Held on Forgery Charge

Raymond Avery, 40, of Connelly, was arrested in the town of Lloyd Monday night by state police on a second degree forgery charge. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Gruner of Highland, Avery waived examination and was ordered held for action of the grand jury. Troopers of the Highland station said Avery was accused of forging a $10 check.

Record Budget

the capital construction fund, and 363 1/2 millions in reappropriations from that fund. However, only $1,345,200,000 would be spent during the year. Harriman proposed record appropriations of $711,200,000 in state aid to localities, including $20,400,000 for construction projects. That would be an increase of $71,600,000 over the current year.

HE ASKED for appropriations of $570,100,000 for state purposes, including $27,700,000 for services and $85,100,000 in transfers to the capital construction fund. The total would be an increase of $65,200,000 over 1954-55 spending.

Harriman indicated to reporters that he would veto GOP-backed bills to grant $7,400,000 in tax relief to the ill, the aged, the blind, and working mothers. He said he had no objections to the proposals as such but that the Republicans would have to find the money.

Harriman called for: 1. Revoking the 10 per cent abatement on state personal income taxes, effective with returns this spring on 1954 incomes. That would result in a 11 1/9 per cent increase, costing taxpayers an estimated 42 1/2 million dollars this year. The tax is now paid at 90 per cent of the full rate, ranging from 2 to 7 per cent of earnings.

2. Boosting the state gasoline tax from four cents to six cents a gallon, and diesel fuel from six cents to nine cents a gallon. The state would gain 57 million dollars in 1955-56 and localities 4.9 million. In the following fiscal year, the state's share would be diverted from general revenues to highway bond issue.

3. Revoking a 25 per cent abatement in the unincorporated business levy, now collected at 75 per cent of the full rate, which is 4 per cent of earnings. That would cost businesses an estimated 6 million dollars this year.

4. Boosting the corporation franchise tax from 5 1/2 per cent of profits to six per cent, this would raise revenues by $12,200,000.

5. Denying corporations permission to deduct state taxes for preceding years from their return for the current tax year, to add 5 million dollars to state revenues.

6. Freezing local taxes on parimutuel bets at thoroughbred race tracks at 2 per cent, at a loss of $5,600,000 in state revenues for 1955-56.

The net effect would be an increase of $119,100,000 in state revenues, after deducting $3,600,000 for local parimutuel taxes and $4,900,000 as the counties' share of fuel taxes.

CALLING HIS OWN program "extremely tight," Harriman termed budget practices of the Dewey administration "distorted" and said they were likely to create confusion in the public mind.

The Dewey budget, Harriman continued, made it easy to "over-appropriate" and "over-commit" the capital construction fund "far beyond the revenue resources of the state, without revealing the financial condition of the state."

The governor said Dewey had "proudly announced" in recent budgets that no tax increases were needed but had not "made clear" that tax revenues were not sufficient to meet capital and operating expenses.

Princess Margaret Wings to Isles

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Feb. 1 (AP)—Making her first visit to the new world, Britain's Princess Margaret winged toward Trinidad today for the start of a month-long tour of the colorful Caribbean.

The silver-haired Canopus carrying Queen Elizabeth's lively 24-year-old sister was scheduled to touch down at Port of Spain's flag-decked airport at 3 p. m.

WITH THE MERCURY here hitting above 85 degrees, the princess was promised a relief from winter chill. It was blustery cold and misty when she took off from London yesterday. And her plane's first refueling stop was at Montreal, where the temperature was 10 below zero, the winter's lowest.

There was a possibility, however, that unseasonal rain might mar the welcome. The weather man predicted possible showers, and the city was drenched yesterday.

Trinidad's governor, Sir Hubert Rance, said the island is displaying "tremendous enthusiasm" for the royal visit. Port of Spain was bedecked with thousands of streamers, banners and flags.

But flags and bunting decorating Piarco Airport were mysteriously torn down Sunday night, despite a 24-hour police guard. Authorities declined comment on the incident yesterday as workers restored the decorations.

THE PRINCESS will watch carnivals, hear calypso songs written in honor of her visit and meet hundreds of West Indians at receptions and garden parties. If she wakes early the morning, the princess could have seen the lights of New York—a city she has often told friends she would like to visit. Her big stratosphere passed over New York's Idlewild Airport at 1:46 a. m., at a height of 18,000 feet.

U. S. Air Force rescue planes escorted the royal flight from Canada to this British colony off the Venezuelan coast of South America.

From Trinidad, the princess will tour other British West Indies islands in the royal yacht Britannia, which she will board here. Among the other stopping places are Grenada, St. Vincent, Antigua, St. Kitts, Jamaica and the Bahamas.

GOP Sees Boost

ter would add an estimated 6 million dollars to the state's coffers. A HIGHLY PLACED source said the GOP saw no way of blocking income and unincorporated business tax increases.

The spokesman pointed out that Harriman had vetoed bills to continue income taxes at 10 per cent off the full rate and unincorporated business taxes at 25 per cent off.

He declared Harriman could—and no doubt would—veto any similar bills that the Republicans might push through the Legislature. The GOP does not have the votes to override a veto.

THE TWO TAX BOOSTS go into effect automatically unless Harriman signs bills to enact abatements. Although the abatements were 10 and 25 per cent, the increases from last year's tax levels would be 11 and 33 1/3 per cent, respectively.

Meanwhile there were indications that at least two of Harriman's budget proposals would be blocked entirely.

The Republicans were maneuvering into position to brush aside the Governor's request for 3 1/2 million dollars in special school aid for New York city.

They isolated the proposal from a bill freezing state education aid at present rates for another year.

AND RELIABLE sources said the GOP was likely to oppose Harriman's plan to peg at two per cent local taxes on bets at thoroughbred horse racing tracks. The proposal would cost the state $3,600,000 since it is slated to take over half of the tax in 1955.

The first public reaction to Harriman's budget came from Garth A. Shoemaker, president of the Citizens Expenditure Survey, a private taxpayers organization.

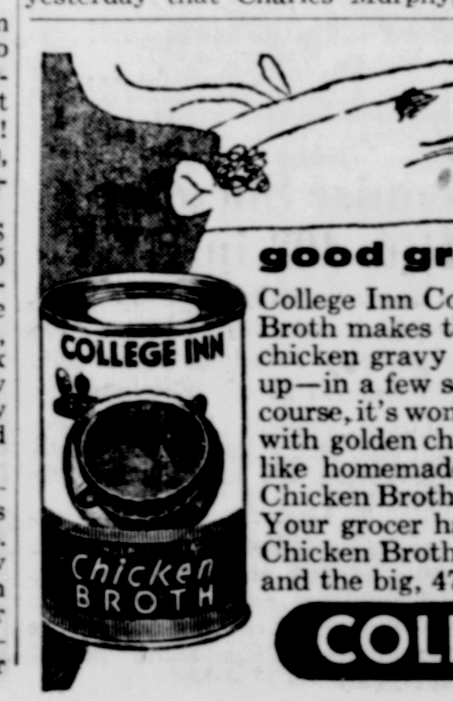

Shoemaker said in a statement that Harriman was building "a new runway for taking off into the wild blue yonder of still further taxes, spending and debt."

"This is cause for sober reflection both on the part of advocates of lower taxes and by proponents of increased spending."

Kingston High Meets Catskill Wednesday at Field House

DUSO League Resumes Tonight With Four Games Wallkill Visits Onteora Central

Kingston High has an open date in the DUSO League tonight, but the Maroons are scheduled for a non-conference outing against Catskill High Wednesday night at the Kate Walton field house.

The rest of the DUSO resumes play after the mid-term recess, with the field still chasing the undefeated Newburgh Academy Goldbacks.

THE CATSKILL contest figures to be nothing more than a stiff workout for the Kiammen, who pick up their DUSO League schedule Friday night at Port Jervis.

Including the Wednesday, Feb. 8 game with Poughkeepsie, there are only four home dates remaining on the field house schedule, proving that it's later than you think in the 1954-55 basketball season.

IN THE DUSO action tonight, Poughkeepsie is at Newburgh in a contest that has been shorn of its original significance. Barring a major upset, the Goldbacks should march to their ninth straight win in the conference and their 11th of the overall season.

Port Jervis visits Middletown; Monticello is at Ellenville and Liberty plays Fallsburgh in a Sullivan county natural.

The standings going into tonight's slate:

DUSO League
	Won	Lost
Newburgh	8	0
Middletown	6	2
Monticello	6	2
Kingston	5	3
Ellenville	4	4
Poughkeepsie	3	4
Port Jervis	2	6
Fallsburgh	1	6
Liberty	0	8

THE ULSTER COUNTY Athletic League resumes play Friday with pace setting Saugerties scheduled for a severe test at Marlboro Central, the defending champions.

New Paltz meets Kerhonkson and Highland plays at Wallkill. Onteora Central plays Wallkill at Boiceville tonight in a game moved up from the regular Friday slate.

A fish and game poach is as much an enemy of the nimrod as a man who unlocks the barn door and steals his horse, Carl King, new president of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County told 125 Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club diners at their annual banquet Saturday.

"The man who takes more than the bag limit in fishing or hunting is robbing from you, actually stealing things that belong to you and the thousands of hunters who obey the conservation laws," King said.

A strong exponent of conservation measures, the Mount Marion forester closed his speech with the Conservation Pledge which he recited with a conviction of a man who believes it and practices it. In between he outlined his philosophy on hunting, fishing and conservation and made several worthwhile suggestions to tighten fish and game laws and guarantee a greater future for nimrods.

"Many of these things are old hat to the nimrod," he admitted, "but they have to be repeated."

"I know the average person hates to turn in a known poacher or cheat," he went on, "but if more hunters reported known poachers to the district game protectors they would be quickly eliminated. But it's hard to get people to do that, so the poachers go on their merry way, breaking the laws years after year."

Among other things, King revealed, construction of the Thruway will eliminate approximately 85,000 acres of hunting and fishing land. He said water projects, business developments, unrealistic efforts to limit fishing in some streams and other factors were steadily cutting into available fishing and hunting preserves.

"It's a process of attrition that eventually will engulf us unless we practice hard and fast conservation to forestall it," he warned.

King made another pitch for his pet project—the abolition of use of chemicals by highway maintenance crews to control roadside vegetation. He is in favor of the hand cutting method, although he admits it's costlier.

"These chemicals are designed to control the vegetation within a few feet of the roads," said King, "but often the chemicals seep several feet into woods and fields and ruin beautiful natural scenery, and game cover."

The slim, dynamic new president of the FSCUC told his listeners that the extension service of the Agriculture Department and state foresters are always anxious to help farmers and organizations to reclaim barren land, refurbish game cover and assist in sound conservation practices. Any person who owns five acres or more of land is eligible for help for reforestation, he said.

King, bellwether of the county group for eight years as secretary, was recently elevated to the presidency. He has been a stand-out member of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club for many years.

Concluding his remarks he urged the Lake Katrine Club and other Federation affiliates to present their problems at the monthly meetings. He said he would welcome constructive criticism and suggestions from the field. And in the same breath he reiterated his confidence in the vast majority of the State Conservation Department's fish and game scientists.

"These so-called 'experts' are often subjected to a lot of abuse in the field," King said, "but by and large they are scientifically trained and equipped to do a good job for us. Like you men, I don't agree with all of them, but let's not demean all just because of a few."

Court Ruling Paves Way For Suit Against IBC

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Justice Department moved at top speed today to bring the International Boxing Club to trial as a monopoly that violates federal antitrust laws.

The trial will take place in New York city and a spokesman for the department's antitrust division there said it probably would begin some time before the end of the calendar year—July 1.

The government received the green light to prosecute from the Supreme Court which yesterday refused to grant boxing exemption from antitrust laws as it did baseball.

THE GOVERNMENT filed an antitrust suit against the IBC, headed by Jim Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz, back in March, 1952, but it was thrown out by Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan of New York, who based his decision on the baseball case.

The Supreme Court decision was by a 6-2 vote with Chief Justice Earl Warren writing the majority opinion. He noted that baseball first was exempted from antitrust laws in 1922 by the Supreme Court. In 1953 the court held that Congress, by failing to pass legislation specifically bringing baseball under the antitrust laws, had indicated it wanted baseball exempted.

BUT NO SUCH situation prevailed for boxing, the opinion continued. If it is to be exempt "the issue is for Congress to resolve, not this court."

The minority opinion, written by Justice Felix Frankfurter, said it would "baffle the subtlety ingenuity factor between other sporting exhibition, whether boxing, or football or tennis and baseball insofar as conduct of the sport is relevant to the question of antitrust prosecution."

NORRIS ISSUED a statement saying that the decision merely means that the government must prove its monopoly charges.

"We are confident," he said, "that the court will vindicate our position that in presenting seven or eight championship bouts a year we do not operate an illegal monopoly within the meaning of the Sherman Act."

The government position is that Norris and Wirtz, along with the Madison Square Garden Corporation, have been conspiring since 1949 to monopolize the promotion, exhibition, broadcasting and televising of big-time fights.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 1 (AP)—The United States today looked to a school teacher, a construction worker and a fireman to challenge European sprinters in the 1956 Olympic speak-skating.

The three, Don McDermott of Englewood, Cliffs, N. J., Ken Henry, of Chicago and Bill Carow, of Madison, Wis., won positions on the U. S. team yesterday with the three fastest individual times in the 500-meter qualifying.

The trials produced the swift 500 ever skated in this country, the .428 recorded by McDermott, a 25-year-old construction employee who kept in condition during the summer by bicycling.

HENRY, 26, A high school instructor, qualified with .437, and Carow, 30-year-old fireman, was third with .439. Henry and McDermott both were members of the 1952 Olympic team.

Their 1956 berths secure, the three retired from further action today as 35 remaining contenders shoot for the two spots that go to the top finishers in the 1,500 meters.

Among the favorites are Johnny Werker, Ken Bartholomew, the veteran national champion who was fifth in the 500, and Gene Sandvig, all of Minneapolis, and Jay Hasbrouck, of Newburgh, N. Y., who was fourth in the 500.

The winners of the 5,000 and 10,000 meters will fill two other positions and an eighth member will be selected by judges.

Yukon Eric Meets Berg In Wrestling Feature

Wrestling will return to the Kingston Auditorium Saturday night with Yukon Eric, the Alaskan lumberjack, heading the card.

Eric, considered one of the most powerful men in the game, will tackle Sammy Berg of Montreal in the two-out-of-three fall feature affair.

The massive Alaskan, who used to display a lot of calmness in the ring as he let opponents wear themselves out battering away at his steel-like chest and body, has turned villain in recent engagements. Only a few weeks ago, he was barred by the Illinois State Commission for hitting Verne Gagne with a chair during a TV show in Marigold Gardens, Chicago. He has been reinstated, however.

WHILE HE BANKS heavily on his powerful chest and body, Eric also boasts several effective holds including a powerful bear hug and a back-breaker.

Berg, a former weight-lifting star, who earned the name of "The Scientific" because of his scientific types and his speed may give Eric trouble.

Promoter Ted Bayly is arranging two other tussles to round out Saturday night's card.

ORLANDO ZULUETA, another 3 to 1 favorite, was held to a 10-round draw by 22-year-old Danny Perez of New York at New York's St. Nicholas Arena where an estimated 1,000 paid $1.60.

Referee Larry Napp, an American League umpire in the summer, called it 6-3-1 for Zulueta, but Judge Harold Barnes had Perez on top 5-4-1. Judge Arthur Susskind scored the match even, 5-5, with five points for each. The AP card had Perez ahead 6-4.

Zulueta weighed 137, Perez 140.

Louise Sheaffer Hits 408 in BYA

Louise Sheaffer led the BYA keggers yesterday with a 408 triple. She rolled games of 146, 135 and 127 at the Bowldrome.

Other leaders included Kay Bell 392, Betty Powell 389, Pauline Hutton 384 and Marie Matthews 357.

National Hockey League referees handed out approximately 100 minutes more in penalties the first half of this season as compared to the same period last year.

ABC Keglers Come Back Some for 50 Years Straight

Milwaukee, Jan. 31 — The American Bowling Congress proudly calls its annual tournament "the world's greatest participation sports event." Considering that the tournament draws an average of 25,000 contestants each year and is open to the Congress' two million members without any series of qualifying trials, the claim isn't too far fetched.

Because the tournament site changes every year, there is quite a turnover among participants. Still, there are men like Peter Howley of Chicago, who bowled in the first 46 ABC tournaments until illness forced him to retire in 1949, and Harry Steers of Elmhurst, Ill., who will be taking part in his 50th tournament during the 1955 affair at Fort Wayne, Ind.

"THE ABC TOURNAMENT just seems to get in your blood," said Steers, a dynamic little man of 74 who gained a measure of fame for never missing a night of bowling for 34 years in Chicago's Randolph league.

Nine other men have 40 or more tournaments behind them, another 178 have between 25 and 40 and 14 more will join the 25 year club at Fort Wayne.

On the other end of the age span, a three year old once bowled in the 1941 tournament at St. Paul. And just to show that age is no barrier 83 year old Jerry Ameling and 82 year old Joe Lehnbeuter of St. Louis will bowl together in the doubles division of the 1955 tournament.

"I'M SURE THE FACT that age is of such minor consequence in bowling is what helps give our tournament such universal appeal," said Frank K. Baker, ABC secretary-treasurer. "You don't need the razor sharp conditioning of a professional athlete to get a lot of fun out of bowling."

This year's entry deadline is Tuesday, Feb. 1. The tournament opens March 26 for a 71 day run.

Mayfield Cops Thunderbird Palm Springs, Calif., Feb. 1 (P) — The rich winter golf tour is over in California for 1955, with Shelley Mayfield the winner of the last tournament—a dramatic playoff victor in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational.

The handsome blond from Chicopee, Mass., by way of Seguin, Tex., defeated heavy-shouldered Mike Souchak and veteran Freddie Haas in a duel that was not decided until the 20th hole.

HAAS LEFT the scene on the 18th green, and Mayfield and Souchak fought it out for two more holes, with Mayfield picking up a check for $2,000, Souchak $1,000 and Haas, last year's winner, $750.

Mayfield, 30, holed a slanting 4-foot putt on the 20th; Souchak missed an even more difficult putt on a slope from about 5 feet, and Haas left the scene, the victim of a 5-footer, on the 18th.

Today the three join the rest of the professionals in Arizona for the $15,000 Phoenix Open.

French Champ Surprises With KO Over DeMarco

Paris, Feb. 1 (P) — French lightweight champion Seraphin Ferrer is thinking about fighting in the United States following his surprise knockout of former world champion Paddy De Marco, but he's in no hurry to cross the Atlantic.

The 24-year-old, undefeated Ferrer, winner of 16 fights since turning pro two years ago, said he would like to pick up a little more experience and the European 135-pound title before he tackles the admittedly sterner tests of the U. S. ring.

As for De Marco, he would like the Frenchman to make the trip soon and is even willing to pay Ferrer's fare to get him into a ring in his own country.

FERRER STOPPED the 27-year-old American in 2:30 of the fifth round of their scheduled 10 at the Palais Des Sports last night.

De Marco, who won and lost the world lightweight title to Jimmy Carter, went down from a right to the chin. He got off the canvas at the count of five and grasped the ropes with his left hand but was far from steady. The referee continued the count as De Marco held on and at each count waved his hand in De Marco's direction with fingers indicating the count.

Vicente Napoli, the American's manager, claimed Paddy was ready to go at the count of nine but was confused by European rules.

Oil Executive Engaged To Connecticut Woman New York, Feb. 1 (P) — Oil executive Julian Parker Flood of Greenwich, Conn., said yesterday he is engaged to marry Wanda Goscinski, 25, of Stamford, Conn., but that no date has been set for the wedding.

Flood, 51, said a previous marriage ended in divorce three years ago, and that he met his bride-to-be through mutual friends.

Miss Goscinski, manager of a Greenwich restaurant, is a native of Delmont, Pa., where her father, Stephen, is in the wholesale lumber business, Flood said.

Flood laughed at reports he was a well-to-do socialite, said he entertains very little and his main hobbies are hunting and fishing. He is employed by Esso Standard Oil Co., as an assistant to the manager in the marketing department.

Plot to Free Inmates Is Told

Ossining, Feb. 1 (P) — A plot to free the inmates of Sing Sing prison's death house by kidnapping the warden and his family has been disclosed by prison officials.

The daring project, planned for last summer but never carried out, would have been the first break ever made from the death house.

"It was doomed to failure from the very beginning," said Warden Wilfred Denno last night. "Nothing ever came of it. It was fantastic. It couldn't possibly have worked."

DENNO SAID a death row inmate, Romulo Rosario, last summer sent word to authorities in New York that he had "important information." A New York police sergeant went to see him and came away with the story of the escape plot in which outside gunmen were to grab the warden's family and force their way to the death house.

To back up his story, Rosario handed over a note from another convicted murderer asking him to join the plot.

"We get tips like this all the time," said Denno. "Naturally we check them out."

DENNO WAS QUERIED by newsmen after the New York Daily News first reported the plot in a copyrighted story published last night.

At Saratoga Springs, William E. Leonard, acting commissioner of the Department of Correction and Denno's superior, said the plot "just couldn't be carried out" and there was never any indication of any effort to do so.

Rosario, convicted of murder in Manhattan last May and scheduled to die during the week of Feb. 14, may have hoped his tip on the plot would aid an appeal for clemency. Like any condemned man, Rosario can ask the governor for clemency before his execution.

Denno told a reporter last night that so far as he was concerned, the tip did not merit clemency. "I'm not going to recommend clemency for him," Denno said.

The warden said state police were informed of the plot and for two weeks posted guards for the Denno family. After this guard was removed, he added, no special precautions were taken beyond strict enforcement of routine prison security measures.

The carrier announced today that the machine, which delivers a ticket four seconds after the money is dropped in, is being given its initial test in Grand Central terminal.

Not only does it make change, but a sign lights up if too little is deposited. Overpayments are automatically rejected.

"AUTOMATIC TIKET," as the device is called, has been installed on the upper level of the terminal between gates 29 and 30 and will remain there through tomorrow.

Starting Thursday, the machine will be located between tracks 110 and 111 on the lower level concourse. In each location, it will be available to ticket purchasers between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

THE MACHINE, developed by the General Register Corp. of New York, is expected to help speed sales so that more passengers will purchase tickets before boarding trains.

It has alphabetically arranged push-buttons for 60 stations—as far as Peekskill on the Hudson Division and Brewster on the Harlem Division.

The exact prices—including the 10 per cent federal tax on passenger transportation—are posted.

All the purchaser has to do is insert the coins—anything except pennies—and press a button. His ticket and change pop out four seconds later. Up to 49 cents in change can be made. For a round-trip ticket, the Winter Park, Fla., Feb. 1 (P) — A housekeeper, a secretary and a chauffeur were left a quarter of a million dollars yesterday in the will of their employer, millionaire Eugene R. Phillips, who died two weeks ago.

The secretary, Andrew J. Hlafter and Mrs. Jeanne Claghorn, the housekeeper, each received $100,000. Chauffeur James H. Hughes inherited $50,000.

Phillips, a retired Providence, R. I., cable manufacturing firm executive, had spent the winters in Winter Park since 1925. He also left $200,000 and all his personal property to his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Estelle of Larchmont, N. Y.

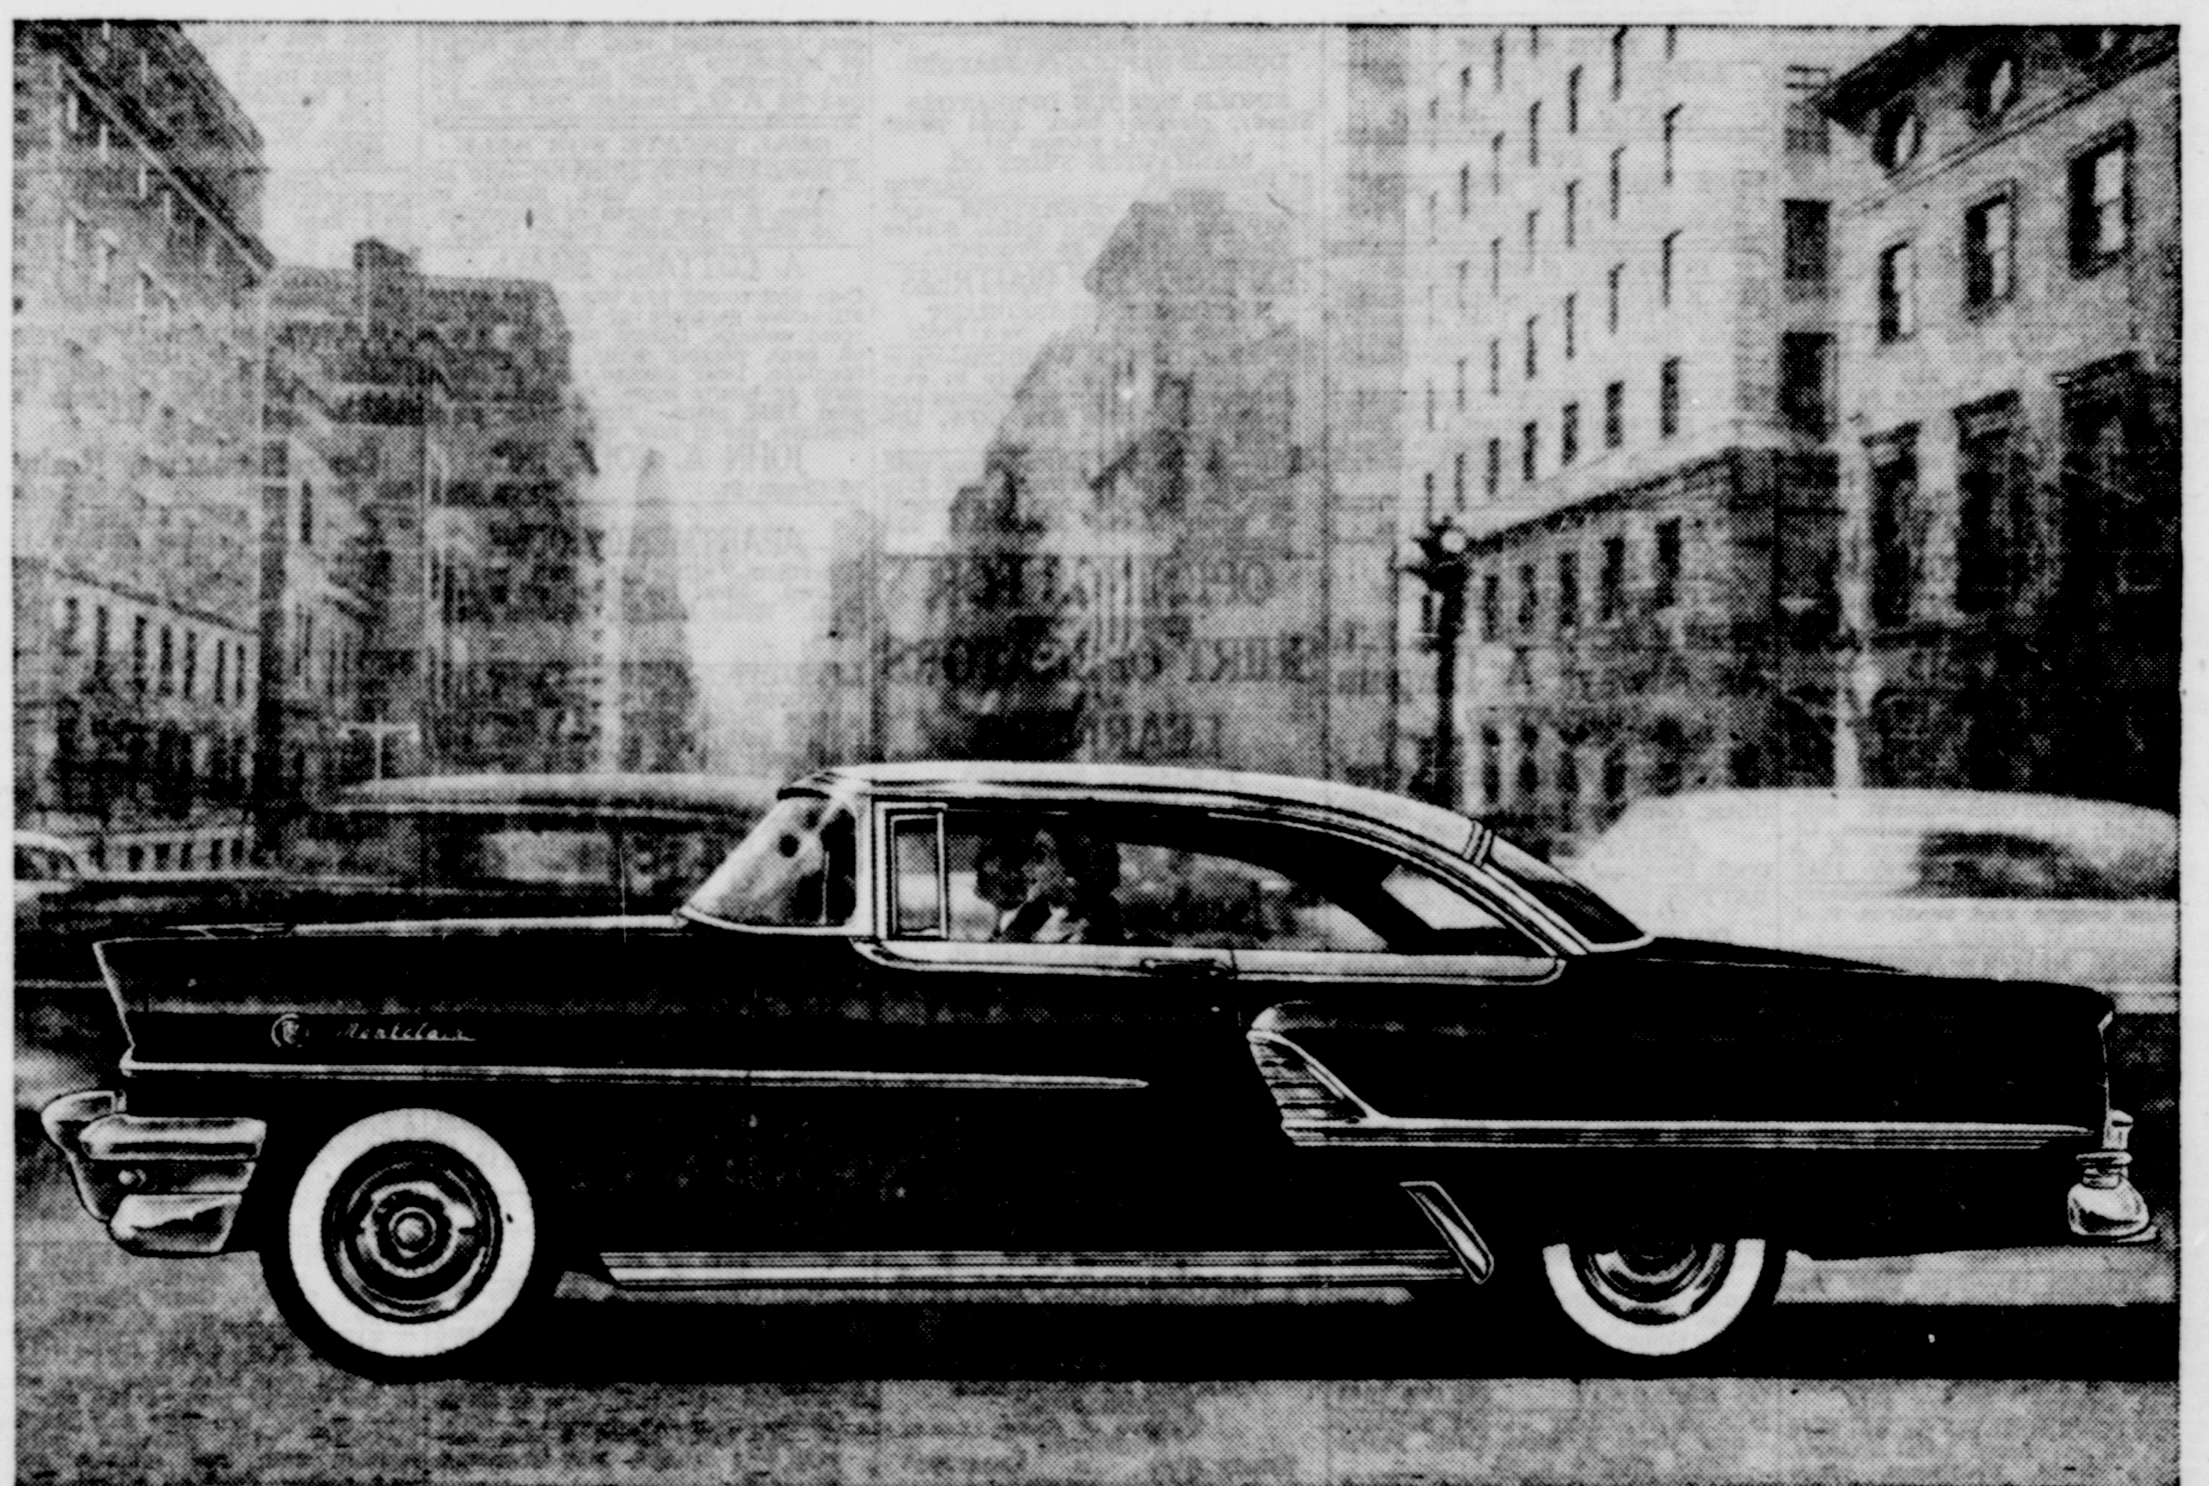

Hughes said his 40 years of chauffeuring for Phillips was "more of a vacation than working." He and his employer were constant companions on fishing trips and sporting events.

NEW IBM PLANS call for early construction of two electronic buildings in the Poughkeepsie area as shown in the architect's sketch.

IBM Gives Net Income for '54; Pays $11.35 Share

New York, Feb. 1.—For the year ended December 31, 1954, International Business Machines Corporation today reported net income of $46,536,625 after U. S. federal income taxes. This is equivalent to $11.35 a share on the 4,098,471 shares outstanding at the end of the year, and compares with net income after taxes for the corporation and subsidiary companies for the year 1953 of $34,119,210, equivalent to $8.32 a share on the same capitalization. As a result of the 2 1/2 per cent stock dividend paid January 28, 1954, and a stock split-up of 25 per cent on May 7, 1954, the number of outstanding shares was increased from 3,198,868 shares to 4,098,471 shares. Earnings for the year 1954 were not subject to the excess profits tax, which for the year 1953 aggregated $10,000,000.

NET INCOME for the year ended December 31, 1954, before U. S. federal income taxes amounted to $98,536,625, compared with net income of $92,319,210 for the corporation and subsidiary companies for the year 1953. As previously reported to stockholders, effective January 1, 1954, the corporation revised its method of taking up earnings in countries outside the United States to include only the distributed income (cash dividends) from its wholly-owned subsidiary IBM World Trade Corporation.

Gross income for the year 1954 from sales, service and rentals in the U. S. amounted to $461,350,278, compared with 1953 gross income of $409,989,104.

THE REPORT NOTES that the quarterly cash dividend of $1.00 a share, payable March 10, 1955, is the 160th consecutive quarterly cash dividend paid by the company.

"Although more of the corporation's products were produced in 1954 than in any year in the history of the business, unfilled orders at the end of the year were higher than at the end of any previous year. In addition to the continued demand for the corporation's regular products, the corporation continues to be engaged in a substantial amount of defense work under direct contracts with the U. S. government," the annual report, which is signed by Thomas J. Watson, chairman of the board, and T. J. Watson, Jr., president, stated.

During 1954 the corporation's increased volume of business and replacement of obsolete equipment required an investment of $132,920,233 in rental machines and parts, factory and office equipment and land and buildings. Dismantled and obsolete equipment amounting to $39,082,240 was written off and charged against reserves provided out of prior and current years' earnings. In 1954 the corporation dedicated a new research laboratory at Poughkeepsie, of 179,000 square feet, a new manufacturing plant at Greencastle, Ind., of 184,000 square feet, and a new manufacturing building at Endicott, of 139,200 square feet. The corporation has under construction at the present time an addition to its research laboratory at Poughkeepsie which will add 96,000 square feet and, under a necessity certificate, a new plant at Kingston, which will add 459,000 square feet to be used for the performance of a government contract.

EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 1, 1954, IBM increased its employee minimum and maximum retirement benefits to $100 a month after 10 years' service and $265 a month after 45 years' service, respectively, both including Social Security. Retirement income, as heretofore, is based solely on length of continuous service, regardless of an employee's earnings or position with the company. During 1954 payments to the trustee totaled $4,005,622 of which $2,772,291 was paid under the IBM retirement plan and $1,233,331 from the Watson fund for supplementing the IBM retirement plan. "Our research and engineering laboratories are continuing their work on a number of important defense projects for the U. S. government and on new and improved commercial products," the report said.

NEW PRODUCTS introduced in 1954 include an electronic data transceiver which transmits data from punched cards over telephone teletype or radio circuits; a ticket converter providing automatic conversion to punched cards. Of data contained in retail price tickets: An improved numeric accounting machine; An alphabetic interpreter which reads and prints punched card data at high speed; A typewriter card punch and a typewriter card printing punch, and a new electric typewriter.

In 1954 two new electronic data processing machines for scientific and commercial applications were announced, representing IBM's ninth commercial applications of electronics to computing and data processing, as well as an improved magnetic tape reader, a cathode ray tube out-punch recorder, and other improvements in existing equipment.

IBM has been selected by the United States Air Force to produce digital electronic computers of unprecedented capacity and reliability for the nation's air defense system. For the United States Navy, the corporation has designed, and in 1954 delivered, the naval ordnance research calculator, the fastest, most powerful electronic computer in the world today.

Mystery Prints

stein's cafe society girl friends. She told police she left them there last fall, he said.

Authorities, still baffled by the mysterious slaying, continued to check the more than 1,000 names Rubinstein listed in his notebooks. Reportedly these included names of top Hollywood figures and persons high in Las Vegas, Nev., gambling circles.

"WE ARE STILL up against a stone wall and are interested, as you know, in all Rubinstein's business and personal associates," remarked Asst. Dist. Atty. Courtlandt Nicoll yesterday.

Nicoll made the statement after interviewing financier Lee Brooks at a hospital where he had recently undergone an operation. There was no basis for considering Brooks a suspect in the case, Nicoll stated.

Later in a bedside interview, Brooks told reporters: "Go to Stanley T. Stanley, Rubinstein's only channel to respectable business, and you will see evidence of big deals that could lead to the killer."

STANLEY IS ONE of those business associates of Rubinstein who have suggested the slaying was a paid job. "It was a mob job—a syndicate killing," he declared on the day of the murder.

Brooks, who fought Rubinstein in an oil company deal and filed a suit against him for five million dollars, said: "It would serve my purpose better if he had remained alive, as we had an iron-clad case against him."

Brooks added: "Rubinstein's brilliance is a myth. He succeeded only by chicanery and deception. All his deals were destructive. He never built anything."

The Russian-born Rubinstein came to this country in 1938 and reportedly amassed a 10-million-dollar fortune. In 1947 he went to federal prison for two years for dodging the draft during World War 2.

tal Army that will be converted in line with the Army's new policy of increasing firepower and attack in the armed forces with fewer men.

There are 27 National Guard units in the U. S. Army.

The 27th Infantry Division known as the "New York Division" was selected as the first testing ground for the change-over because of its superior rating. Col. Harkins told the newsmen.

The Division, commanded by Major General Ronald C. Brock of Amherst, compiled an outstanding record in both World Wars and stands tops among the nation's National Guard units.

The local unit will receive six full-track, self-propelled 105 MM Howitzers (M-7) for training and issue to artillery firing batteries of the Battalion (Batteries A, B and C). These self-propelled weapons are armored vehicles usually having a seven-man crew, weigh nearly 21 tons and hold 180 gallons of fuel. They are armor plated, have interchangeable tracks (rubber and steel) and are armed with 50 calibre machine gun and two-way radio equipment.

"Generally speaking," said Col. Harkins, "these vehicles can go anywhere, and are made to do the job."

Physically, the Battalion will have some immediate changes in artillery and equipment, but present personnel will remain unchanged, training will continue at the same high level.

"Changing to armor will in no way diminish, but will enhance the facilities and opportunities available to young men of military age through service in the National Guard," Col. Harkins said.

Under the new setup the infantry soldiers will travel in mounted pieces, along with the chemical and engineer sections.

Col. Harkins emphasized that the change to armor will not affect the traditions and backgrounds of the local units. The numerical designation will remain the same and its history will be retained.

As Pegler Sees It

war by the Communists and fellow-travelers, is now practically guaranteed as a government subsidy to millions of men and women in partial compensation for service in the armed forces. The United States never saw the day when it was so short of manpower for all duties of the armed services that the enrollment of women was necessary. During World War 2 the union sabotage in 5,000 strikes a year and in mock-work and fake-work was equal to many divisions of soldiers. But the unions were and still are political proteges of the national government, so discussion of this imposition on the whole people was condemned as labor-baiting.

If the federal government must draft millions of men for military service even in peacetime, disrupting their lives by lifting them out of college and shipping them away from surroundings in which they would normally marry neighbor girls and progress gently to the status of established local citizens, then the government has a welcome and plausible excuse to "educate" these millions and to subsidize the construction and purchase of homes.

Great frauds have been perpetrated in both fields. The "education" which is thrust upon most of these victims is palatable to them because they don't know it is polluted. The University of Arizona recently hung an "education" on E. Palmer Hoyt, the editor of the Denver Post. This was a political stroke engineered by a partisan Democratic organization to exalt a man for an abusive campaign against Senator Joe McCarthy.

This is a flagrant example of the political pollution of education to which millions of young men are subjected, as though it were a favor to soil their minds as compensation for their sacrifice of time and opportunity under the draft. However, it is only a minute instance. The whole system is now polluted.

Students may learn that General Grant's regime was crooked and that Grant himself was personally honest. But they will not be taught that F. D. Roosevelt helped Elliott to trim one sucker out of $200,000 and later invented a crooked scheme to get back Elliott's collateral. They will be taught that Jackson's wife was a victim of unjustified scandal, but nobody is going to teach them the truth of Eleanor Roosevelt's visit to her friend, Joe Lash, in the Pacific at the people's expense and of her interesting relationship with Earl Miller, her favorite sergeant of the New York state police, who got a commission as lieutenant commander and a soft, safe assignment by her intercession.

Only a few stubborn minds among the millions will ever learn that as recently as the Civil War the people of these states were not citizens of their respective states, and that this relationship was changed not by Congress but by the Supreme Court.

Science and technical subjects may be proof against pollution by political pedagogs. History and literature are their best fields of imposition on the victims.

February Has Chance to Lose Reputation as Being Bearish

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—February has a chance this time to mix its reputation as a bearish month.

The reputation is fairly well established. Not only are people in general bearish on February's weather, but commodity dealers can name a number of past Februaries when there was a sharp drop in commodity prices. They always keep an eye out for signs of "the February break."

Wall Street, which has its seasonal superstitions, too, notes that so far this century, about three-fifths of the time stock prices have declined during February.

THE FORCES that have often caused prices to drop in the second month of the year may be strong again this year. But traders point out that this time there are some counter forces that could make this February different.

Commodity prices—and stocks of some companies active in defense production—are under the influence of the cold war. It is considerably less chilly right now. The Formosa dispute—with its calculated risk of war—has sent some commodity prices up. The big meeting of Communist overlords in the Kremlin could put a hush on talk of peaceful coexistence and point to a hardening of the cold war.

THE AUTO PRODUCTION race is sucking in large quantities of steel, other metals, rubber, glass, textiles. Fierce competition among the auto companies is holding February production schedules high. There is also a suspicion that production is being kept high so that a sizable portion of the year's output can be turned out before wage negotiations start late in the spring. Union leaders are talking of tougher demands this year and management may be wanting to turn out more cars than usual at this time of year to hedge against any possible work stoppage later. At any event, the auto industry's demand for raw materials seems likely to hold for a while.

More housing starts this spring than last are predicted by the home loan board. The construction industry has been a big consumer of raw materials—steel, cement, lumber, hardware—and has opened markets for the raw materials that go into home furnishings and appliances. The end of that boom—long predicted—has yet to be actually sighted.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has cheering words for farmers, too. The price of farm products rose in January and Benson expects them to rise even higher in the spring. Expectation of a later rise may have offset "the February break" this time.

EXPORT MARKETS are improving. Europe's great industrial revival—boosted later perhaps by plans to rearm western Germany—has created a rising demand for steel and copper and other commodities. That demand has recently boosted the price of copper here. It sustains prices for many other commodities.

These are the strong factors underlying the markets. There are some weak factors, too, however. Some brokers say the stock market may still be in for a bigger correction than occurred early in January. The huge surpluses of farm commodities and the greatly increased capacity for producing many industrial commodities overhang the markets. And, then February does have that bad name.

THE HARLEM Democratic congressman, referring to a dinner given by Magloire in Washington last week, recalled that Mrs. Eisenhower went in to dinner on the arm of Magloire and that Eisenhower followed with Mrs. Magloire.

Dr. Powell said that as Magloire continues his U. S. tour he will be "a visible reminder to people everywhere that the United States of America cannot continue as a first class power without the active cooperation of the two billions of colored peoples of the earth."

MAGLOIRE—47 years old and 6 feet 2, acknowledged greetings at the church in French, which was translated by an interpreter. He referred to Eisenhower's invitation to visit this country as "a noble and courteous gesture."

Today (noon) Magloire gets the traditional welcome from New York city—a parade up lower Broadway and a reception at City Hall to receive the city's scroll for distinguished service and medal of honor from Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Two girls and their father were dragged unconscious from the house.

The blaze, caused by explosion of the kerosene heater, brought to nine the total of cold weather deaths resulting from kerosene heater fires in New York city since Sunday.

Revived but in serious condition in a hospital were Kathleen Keenan, 9, and Maureen F. Their father, Michael Keenan, 55, was unconscious hours after the fire.

The dead, identified by police, were Charles Westblade, 16, a son of Keenan's wife Rita, by a previous marriage, and Dennis Keenan, 4.

Mrs. Keenan, 35, had grabbed two other children and escaped the flaming apartment without serious injury.

The fire was confined to the Keenan apartment in the three-story brick tenement building in the Ridgewood section.

On Sunday six persons died in a similar kerosene heater fire in a lower east side tenement in Manhattan.

Auditors Needed

Examinations have been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for auditor for filling positions paying $3,410 a year in various establishments of the Department of Defense throughout the country and overseas; and for communications coding clerk, statistical clerk, supply clerk, and traffic clerk, for filling positions paying $3,175 a year in various agencies in Washington, D. Dewey Won't Run

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was quoted today as saying he is "not a candidate in the world" of his running for President if Eisenhower doesn't seek reelection. Dewey was one of a group interviewed by the New York Daily News "inquiring photographer" on the question "If Eisenhower doesn't run for reelection, what do you think of Tom Dewey's chances?"

Powell Hails Eisenhower Acts

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. says the treatment accorded to President Paul E. Magloire of Haiti by President and Mrs. Eisenhower was "a mighty earth-shaking symbol of an orderly new world."

"The masters of the Kremlin," Dr. Powell adds, "know that such integration on a world basis carries more of an impact than the explosion of any hydrogen bomb."

Dr. Powell introduced Magloire and his wife to 2,000 persons yesterday at the Abyssinian Baptist Church, of which the Rev. Dr. Powell is pastor.

THE HARLEM Democratic congressman, referring to a dinner given by Magloire in Washington last week, recalled that Mrs. Eisenhower went in to dinner on the arm of Magloire and that Eisenhower followed with Mrs. Magloire.

Higher Wages Are Forecast for '55

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 1 (AP)—Higher wages but fewer jobs is the forecast for 1955 received by AFL leaders today as they opened two-level winter meetings.

The AFL executive council, 17-member policy-making group of the big labor organization, studied a report prepared by AFL economists predicting that unions will win substantial wage boosts this year.

The report, at the same time, expressed fear that unemployment will average about four million throughout the year, or a million higher than the three million jobless average of 1954.

AN ABOVE NORMAL increase among the available workers, partly due to schedule reductions in the military forces, plus new productive efficiencies, were blamed for the expected hike in the number of unemployed.

The AFL council was expected to endorse several steps designed to bolster the economy and help reduce unemployment. One favorite AFL antidote is higher exemptions to reduce income tax payment among wage earners. Another is to increase the present 75 cents an hour federal minimum wage.

President Eisenhower recently asked Congress to boost the minimum wage to 90 cents an hour and include many workers, now exempt. The AFL, while welcoming Eisenhower's proposal, has been on record for a $1.25 minimum.

The council was also expected to draft several other proposals for legislation in Congress. It was due to study new safeguards for union welfare funds and to prepare for further merger talks here next week with the rival CIO.
